Instructions: Given that  $x$  varies directly with  $y$ , use the specified values to write a direct variation equation.

8. $x = 10, y = 30$	9. $x = 20, y = 10$	10. $x = 20, y = 1$
---------------------	---------------------	---------------------

11. One way to find the area of a rectangle is to plot the sides with vertices and points. The number of gallons of paint you need varies directly with the area of the rectangle. One gallon of paint covers 400 square feet.

- Write a direct variation equation that modeling the number of gallons,  $g$ , the area of the rectangle.
- How many gallons of paint need to cover 400 square feet?
- How many square feet does 4 gallons of paint cover?

12. The table shows the amount of time it takes to run.

- Write a direct variation equation that models the time it takes to run.
- How long will it take to run 10 miles at that constant rate?

straightforward way even though the constraints of paper based formats restrict what they do and why There are other kinds of questions such as those with non unique correct answers or where assessing the properties requires the marker themselves to undertake a significant computation It is simply not sensible for a person to set these to large groups of students when marking by hand However such questions have their place and value in provoking thought and learning This book aimed at teachers in both schools and universities explores how in certain cases different question types can be automatically assessed Case studies of existing systems have been included to illustrate this in a concrete and practical way
