Baobab John Rashford,2023-06-28 Modern humans descendants of a founding population that separated from chimpanzees some five to eight million years ago are today the only living representative of a branching group of African apes called hominins Because of its extraordinary size and shape the baobab Adansonia digitata L has long been identified as the most striking tree of Africa s mosaic savanna the landscape generally regarded as the environment of hominin evolution This book makes the case for identifying the baobab as the tree of life in the hunter gatherer adaptation that was the economic foundation of hominin evolution The argument is based on the significance of the baobab as a resource rich environment for the Hadza of northeastern Tanzania who continue to be successful hunter gatherers of the African savanna

Paper ,1921 Scientific American ,1893 Michigan School Moderator ,1890 English Mechanic and World of Science ,1893 Indigenous Land Management in West Africa Kathleen M. Baker,2000 The success of rural development schemes in Africa particularly those involving land is heavily dependent on understanding the local ecology Any farmer knows this yet rarely has development project design catered adequately for the vicissitudes of the African environment Although environmental unpredictability was recognized in the temperate zone by the mid nineteenth century the ecological theory which was subsequently developed and most widely accepted was based on concepts of norms and equilibria History has shown that the application of such ecological assumptions to African environments is wholly inappropriate This book argues that many methods used by West African smallholder farmers and pastoralists are properly adapted to the region s unpredictable physical environment Field examples from the semi arid and humid zones demonstrate the nature of environmental variability and the skill of indigenous farmers and pastoralists in exploiting this It is thus argued that development planners should where possible model development schemes on the more successful ecologically sound methods of indigenous land management Pharmaceutical Journal ,1873 English Mechanic and Mirror of Science and Art ,1915 English Mechanic and Mirror of Science ,1883 Nature Sir Norman Lockyer,1876
