This study investigates a low-frequency verbal inflection called the “narrative past” in child and child-directed speech in the Bantu language Sesotho. Since the function of the Sesotho narrative past is not well-described, this study aimed to illuminate both function and acquisition trends in the Demuth Sesotho Corpus (Demuth, 1992). The narrative past form has been assumed to be under-specified for tense, comparable in function to the better-known Swahili -ka- inflection. The Swahili form, in turn, has been said to function in “clause chains” that are functionally and structurally similar to such chains in Papuan and other languages. We expected that, if the Sesotho narrative past is indeed functionally similar to Swahili -ka-, its distribution in child-directed speech and acquisition by children may pattern similarly to tense-less verb forms in non-Bantu clause chaining languages such as the Papuan language Nguno, where such verb forms can comprise over 20% of all verb tokens in child-directed and child speech at age 3;3. This study thus examined the conversational interactions of four children acquiring Sesotho in a village setting, aged 2;1–4;7. All 492 tokens of the narrative past form were coded for syntactic and discourse categories. Results show that the Sesotho narrative past generally occurs in much “looser” discourse chains than the clause chains of languages like Nguno; for Sesotho, other turns or elements can intervene between narrative past-framed mentions of previously-introduced topics. Further, the Sesotho narrative past has very low frequency in both child and child-directed speech, representing <3% of all verb tokens for both registers. There is possible evidence that one of the target children uses the Sesotho narrative past in increasing proportions as his linguistic sophistication increases, but there is no significant corresponding proportional increase in child-directed speech. Thus, in function and distribution, in both child-directed and child speech, the Sesotho narrative past form differs greatly from tense-less forms in more canonical clause chaining languages.

INTRODUCTION

Bantu languages are famous for their many verbal inflections. In particular, many Bantu languages boast multiple nuanced distinctions within the past and future tenses (Nurse, 2003, 2008; Botne and Kerkhove, 2008; Nurse and Devos, 2019), with, in some cases, a “Near Future,” “Middle Future,” and “Remote Future” tense with (presumed) application to different sections of a timeline. But the actual functions of these different tenses are often under-described, in both pedagogical

Doke,2017-09-20 Originally published in 1945 this volume represented the first to classify Bantu languages This volume does not record all the dialects but makes reference to those in which some grammatical study has been done and classifies them according to mainly geographical zones Owing to tribal migrations individual members of a particular zone may be living among members of a different zone as has been the case with the Ngoni South Eastern Zone who are found among the Eastern Bantu but the zone label is taken from the habitat of the majority The Mountain School Greg Alder,2013 The Kingdom of Lesotho is a mountainous enclave in southern Africa and like mountain zones throughout the world it is isolated steeped in tradition and home to few outsiders The people known as Basotho are respected in the area as the only tribe never to be defeated by European colonizers Greg Alder arrives in Tsoeneng in 2003 as the village s first foreign resident since 1966 Back then the Canadian priest who had been living there was robbed and murdered in his quarters Set up as a Peace Corps teacher at the village s secondary school Alder finds himself incompetent in so many unexpected ways How do you keep warm in this place where it snows but there is no electricity How do you feed yourself where there are no grocery stores let alone restaurants Tsoeneng is a world apart from his home in America but Alder persists in adapting He learns to grow food he learns to speak the strange local language and he makes enough friends such that he is eventually invited to participate in initiation rites Yet even as he seems accepted into the Tsoeneng fold he sees how much of an outsider he will always remain and perhaps want to remain The Mountain School is insightful and candid at times accepting and at times rebellious It is the ultimate tale of the transplant Sesotho sa Leboa - Seisimane pukuntšu ya sekolo ,2007 Designed to enable learners to write and speak effectively and competently in their additional language this up to date and easy to use dictionary focuses on overcoming learners most common difficulties The dictionary offers support in four key areas as shown below Plus 56 pages of useful extras a mini grammar activities with answers model letters illustrations SMS language and more The Crosslinguistic
