Haitians Anthony V. Catanese, 2019-04-03 In 1981 I was asked by some DePauw University students to serve as faculty adviser for a group planning to work in rural Haiti during the nearly month long interim term I accepted the offer for several reasons I had enjoyed being the faculty adviser for two previous work projects in Guatemala and Jamaica I had found the experience was educationally valuable for undergraduates and I could use it to enhance classroom learning during the semester In addition the experience of living and working in a radically different environment was intellectually stimulating for me as a social scientist interested in welfare economics Finally because such volunteer projects were rare in the early 1980s I realized the opportunity should not be passed up It was a chance to see a part of the world I had heard of but knew little or nothing about except from accounts found in newspaper and magazine articles
