Questioning Leadership Gabriele Lakowski, Scott Eacott, Colin W. Evers, 2016-11-10 Questioning Leadership offers a diverse mix of cutting edge research in the field of educational leadership with contributions from expert and emerging leadership scholars It contextualises school leadership within broader social and historical contexts and traces its influence on school performance through time from its relatively modest role within a systems theory paradigm to its growing influence from the 1980s onwards as exercising leadership came to be perceived as being largely responsible for improving educational outcomes This book invites the reader to challenge the current orthodoxy of leader centrism and instead reflect more broadly on the various structural and institutional interrelationships that determine how a school functions successfully It poses challenging questions such as Is leadership really necessary for high quality school performance Can schools function effectively without leadership Is it possible to describe the work that principals do without using the word leadership How do we challenge the assumption that leadership simply exists and that it is seen as the appropriate default explanation for school performance This book does not assume that leadership is the key to organisational performance although it acknowledges the work that principals do It goes against current orthodoxy and offers varied perspectives on how leadership might be repositioned vis vis organisational and institutional structures It also suggests some new directions for leading and learning and throws open a discussion on leadership that for too long has been captured by the assumption that the leader is the cause of organisational performance and learning outcomes in schools At a time when leadership's dominance seems unshakeable this is a bold book that should appeal to postgraduate students of educational leadership and management those undertaking training in educational administration and current school leaders interested in exploring the value of leadership for educational organisations

Leadership and Literacy Neil Dempster, Tony Townsend, Greer Johnson, Anne Bayetto, Susan Lovett, Elizabeth Stevens, 2017-04-01 This book focuses on what school leaders need to know and understand about leadership for learning and for learning to read in particular It brings together theory research and practice on leadership for literacy The book reports on the findings from six studies that followed school principals from their involvement in a professional learning program consisting of five modules on leadership and the teaching of reading to implementation action in their schools It describes how they applied a range of strategies to create leadership partnerships with their teachers pursuing eight related dimensions from a Leadership for Learning framework or blueprint The early chapters of the book feature the use of practical tools as a focus for leadership activity These chapters consider for example how principals and teachers can develop deeper understandings of their schools contexts how professional discussions can be conducted with a process called disciplined dialogue and how principals might encourage approaches to shared leadership with their teachers The overall findings presented in this book emphasise five positive positions on leadership for learning to read the importance of an agreed moral purpose sharing leadership for improvement understanding what learning to read involves implementing and evaluating reading interventions and recognising the need for support for leaders learning on the job

Decision Making in Educational Leadership Stephanie Chitpin, Colin W. Evers, 2014-06-05 The increased focus on raising standards in education requires leaders to engage in complex decision making about teacher assessment mandated accountability measures and the collection and use of large amounts of data Showcasing exemplary practices of school and district administrators Decision Making in Educational Leadership covers issues concerning the role of emotion ethical and legal ramifications the use of data and complexity in decision making Chapter authors in this research based volume explore what administrators and school leaders actually know about educational problems how they draw upon and revise theories of action for responding to problems and which theories are tenable in educational decision making This important resource provides a broad and international perspective on effective models and methods of educational decision making and shares valuable knowledge about how theory can be translated into practice in a variety of school settings

Inclusive Education for the 21st Century Linda Graham, 2020-07-16 Placing a student on the autism spectrum in a busy classroom with a pair of noise cancelling headphones and an aide to deal with the inevitable meltdowns is often done in the name of inclusion but this is integration and not inclusive How can teachers and schools create genuinely inclusive classrooms that meet the needs of every student Research evidence indicates the strategies that make schools inclusive for students with disability benefit all students Yet many schools are still operating under twentieth century models that disadvantage students especially those with disability Inclusive Education for the 21st Century provides a rigorous overview of the foundational principles of inclusive education and the barriers to access and participation It explores evidence based strategies to support diverse learners including specific changes in curriculum pedagogy and assessment practices and the use of data It addresses the needs of children with physical sensory and intellectual disabilities as well as those with complex learning profiles including mental health issues With chapters from leading experts from Australia and the UK Inclusive Education for the 21st Century addresses common issues in both primary and secondary schools Underpinned throughout by research evidence it is designed to assist educators to develop the deep knowledge required to make inclusive education a reality in all schools

Getting MORE Excited About USING Data Edie L. Holcomb, 2017-02-23 Put data to WORK to better meet the needs of all students Have you become hyper focused on state tests Do you have important data collected warehoused and gathering dust The time has come to dust off that data and put it to work for your students The new reporting requirements under ESSA combined with the flexibility to act on that data provide a huge opportunity for education leaders This is your opportunity to rebuild data processes and rekindle excitement about using data for school and student growth Getting MORE Excited About USING Data addresses both cultural and technical aspects of using data starting with underlying beliefs about students assessment and individual and collective teacher efficacy This updated edition features Guiding questions and protocols for effective professional learning communities shared leadership teams and subject grade teaching teams New material on the use of formative assessment in schoolwide planning and instructional design Renewed focus on the role of students Tips on the electronic challenges of storage retrieval privacy and security Real life examples from schools and districts ranging from specific data displays to sustained long term change The straightforward language adaptable models and focus on human elements make Getting MORE Excited about USING Data an essential resource for every leader The time is now to use data to establish a collaborative culture with student success at its core Holcomb leads educators to use data as a catalyst to foster their passion for continuous learning I highly recommend her pragmatic approach in looking at data as a means to stir the hearts and minds of educators for the sake of our future human resources the students we serve Kathy Larson Author Coaching for Infinite Results This book is full of practical supports resources and illustrations It is well grounded in the work of schools and the importance of data to that mission Megan Tschannen Moran Professor of Educational Leadership College of William Mary Williamsburg VA
