Peer Feedback in the Classroom Starr Sackstein, 2017-03-30 In Peer Feedback in the Classroom National Board Certified Teacher Starr Sackstein explores the powerful role peer feedback can play in learning and teaching. Peer feedback gives students control over their learning, increases their engagement and self-awareness as learners, and frees up the teacher to provide targeted support where it's needed. Drawing from the author's successful classroom practices, this compelling book will help you gain a deeper understanding of what meaningful feedback looks like and how it can be used as a tool for learning. Establish a respectful student-led learning environment that supports risk-taking and honest sharing. Teach students to be adept peer strategists who can pinpoint areas of needed growth and move forward with specific strategies for improvement. Develop cooperative student expert groups to help sustain effective peer feedback throughout the year. Use technology to enhance collaboration, streamline the learning and revision process, and strengthen students' digital citizenship skills. The book also includes extended reflections that express in students' and teachers' own words the approach's powerful effect on their practice. Invite students to be your partners in learning and enrich your collective classroom experience.

English Teaching Forum, 2000 Teachers and Technology, 1995-10 Shows that helping schools to make the connection between teachers and technology may be one of the most important steps to making the most of past, present, and future investments in educational technology and in our children's future. Addresses issues such as potential of technology in education, federal support, use of technology to enhance instruction, assisting teachers with the daily tasks of teaching, what technologies do schools own, and how they use technology-related training programs and other related issues. Tables and figures. Access, Equity and Engagement in Online Learning in TESOL Ida Fatimawati, Adi Badiozaman, Jonathan Newton, Hugh John Leong, 2024-10-17 This volume explores difficulties facing TESOL education's transition to online learning in the Global South and Southeast Asia/Asia Pacific region, highlighting innovations of educators in engaging learners, thereby exploring the key themes of access, engagement, and equity in the field. Discussing themes such as academic burnout, cultural competence, and emotional regulation strategies in challenging educational contexts, this novel volume gives voice to field experiences encountered in countries such as Malaysia, Indonesia, Oman, Vietnam, China, and Iran. Chapters demonstrate how a lack of access to reliable internet connectivity and a shortage of digital devices, especially in rural areas, compound limited opportunities for students already facing educational inequalities, presenting the innovative and creative ways English educators are responding to these situations. Across interviews and qualitative studies, the book demonstrates that issues surrounding engagement with access to and equity within the remote and online educational context are wider and longer lasting than the recent pandemic period itself and are at the forefront of challenges facing these regions today. Highlighting English educators' resilience, perseverance, and creativity in challenging circumstances, the book will be of interest to researchers, scholars, and postgraduate students in open and distance education, eLearning, bilingualism, ESL, and distribution.
