

PARAMEDIC

Are you a paramedic? Are you a paramedic? Are you a paramedic? Are you a paramedic? Are you a paramedic?

Introductory concepts

- Safety of the field provider is of utmost concern. Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) suitable to the incident should always be used. At minimum, protective gloves should be worn during all patient contact. PPE may include but is not limited to: eye and full body HAZMAT suits with respirators.
- Paramedics respond to incidents at various locations (schools) and varying locations (residential, industrial plants, etc.). The steps needed to ensure they obtain injury data may vary from responding lifting equipment to securing complex rigging and equipment.

Major Considerations

- Always ask for lifting assistance. Back injury and cancer.
- Stand at the bottom, not at the waist, when lifting patients.
- Maintain a good support base; space your feet widely enough to ensure stability.
- Never twist while lifting a patient.
- AEDs are an even member of lifting help; never have more lifting power on one side of a patient than the other.
- Employ multiple rescuers for steep lifts.
- Use helpful equipment, such as personal stretchers.
 - Backboard. There is a hidden "injury" that ends careers. We routinely interact with patients and deal with them (and perhaps may meet nightmares, they time). This continued bombardment of stressful situations will take its toll.

resulting in loss of sleep and appetite, increased heart rate and blood pressure, increased irritability, etc. Deal with stress by recognizing it and seeking help from stress counselors.

Smile and Greet

Paramedics will be called to scenes where a loved one has died and insensitive efforts are in becoming families. When talking to families, use direct words when appropriate ("I am very sorry for your loss. We've done all we can but we cannot save him"). Be kind with the family and assist as best you can in a very difficult time. You will be met with respect ranging from thankful anger. This is part of their grief process. The most important thing is to always tell the truth.

Smile and Greet

Maintain a good diet and healthy lifestyle by participating in active participation in the physically and mentally demanding field. Providers should get good, regular weight training and cardiovascular exercise. Always eat and hydrate well. Always performing to the best—pushed with calories, safe, and healthy. Eat—during a busy shift. Take time to eat a diet low in fat and salt, increase fruits, vegetables, lean meats, and grains. Break on into at least between meals. Have the "last food" for the emergency.

Team

There are standards that dictate how many members of a professional group should conduct themselves. They speak to honor, integrity, and diligence.

- The code of ethics adopted by physicians also applies to paramedics.
 - 1960—The World Medical Association adopted the "Oath of Geneva".
 - Paramedic oath: "First, do no harm."
 - Be truthful and honest with patients and providers.

Duty to Act

- Any paramedic transported to practice with the same level of training and competence as another paramedic within similar shift systems (standard of care).
- Failure to do so is considered negligence.
- For negligence, paramedics are usually subject to legal action under tort law (a civil suit brought on behalf of the patient rather than criminal law).
- There are four elements that must be present for the plaintiff to prevail.
 - Duty to act. The plaintiff must establish that the paramedic had a legal duty to respond.
 - Breach of Duty. The paramedic must be found to have violated the level of care. There are three types of breaches.
 - Malpractice, performing a wrongful act.
 - Misfeasance, performing a legal act in a wrongful manner.
 - Nonfeasance, failure to perform the correct action.
 - Harm or loss has occurred.
 - Proximate cause—proof that the paramedic caused the harm or loss.

Medical Malpractice

- All EMS systems have a physician medical director.
- Direction is retrospective or prospective.
 - Retrospective direction occurs after an EMS call when the medical director reviews and comments on the paramedic's performance on the call.
 - Prospective medical direction occurs before or during the call. This will usually take one of two forms.
 - Online medical control: the physician and paramedic communicate during the call via radio or phone to decide a proper course of action.
 - Offline medical control: the physician takes an active role in developing paramedic protocols and standing orders (written medical guidelines for the paramedic to follow for common patient conditions).

Medical Malpractice

- Paramedics often take part in medical research.
- Continuing research is critical to advance the field of paramedicine.
 - It helps validate current patient care standards (protocols).
 - It helps validate new standards and medical devices.
 - It allows for data collection to improve EMS systems nationally.
- Before any research is undertaken, the medical director will confer with a review board—often called an Institutional Review Board (IRB)—to ensure that safety and data-reporting requirements are met.

Medical-Legal Issues

- Statewide, services will likely have licensing and certification requirements.
- Federally, insurance laws (Medicare/Medicaid) and HIPAA regulations.

Supplemental Agencies

 - Licensing state or federal granting of legal authority.
 - Much confusion exists regarding the difference; states often refer to certification in their licensure processes.
 - Regardless, most paramedics practice under strict guidelines per their locality.
 - Some feel licensure is more prestigious; this is subjective.

Local Paramedic Laws

- Locally speaking, state laws that exempt individuals from legal liability following attempts to give assistance awarded to a person in distress.
- Federal laws may also exist.
- These laws do not protect against gross negligence, criminal misconduct, and possibly issues relating to the provider's liability violating the rights of others, check your local laws.
- One-duty paramedics may not be protected under these laws.

General Principles

- Rescued that medical patients who may be harm to you or themselves.
- Rescuers may be physical or chemical.
 - Physical rescuers include emergency responders, etc.
 - Chemical rescuers are inhalable pharmaceutical agents.
- Rescuers must be used cautiously and with detailed documentation.

General Principles

- Patients generally have a right to self-transport.
 - Must be fully versed in the ambulance and using state, regional, and/or national recommended methods.

- Cost must be fully covered in the ambulance.
- There must be no harm objects in the ambulance that can impact a patient or crewmembers in the event of a collision.
- Right exists regardless of the provider's assessment of what constitutes a "true injury".
- In general, patients with medical conditions should not be allowed to walk or otherwise transport themselves in such a way that could conceivably make their condition worse.
- Ability to decide to a rescue vehicle call may be determined by regional or state protocols.
- Patient destination is based on several factors.
 - Patient choice.
 - Local protocols (local centers, trauma centers, regional centers, etc.).
 - Severity of condition.
 - Distance to the closest appropriate facility.

General Principles of Transport

- In most systems, a patient has the right to refuse transport under certain criteria.
 - Patient must have capacity to understand the nature of their condition along with the risks and benefits of without versus transport. Patients with behavioral emergencies (intoxicated situations, delirium, etc.) may lack the capacity to refuse care.

- Patient must be legally competent to refuse care.
 - Adults.
 - Legally emancipated minors.
 - A patient's refusal must be fully informed; the paramedic must provide the patient with facts concerning their condition and the risks of refusing; and document the interaction well.
- Refusals must always be well-documented.
- Paramedics should follow local protocols.
- Generally, a patient or legal guardian may refuse for a patient as long as the above criteria are met.

Consentation and Limitation of Resuscitation

- States may have legal guidelines under which a paramedic may initiate resuscitation and some resuscitation may be started.
 - States may provide guidance in the form of protocols, policy or MCRS (Medical Orders for Life-Sustaining Treatment) forms.
 - States may have specific protocols for the various resuscitation cases started at various advanced measures have been unsuccessful.
- This is a very state-specific area of paramedicine.
 - Refer carefully to state and regional guidelines and protocols.
 - Document accordance with defined guidelines.
