studying emotions on a relatively basic level The book then moves to practical applications with chapters on emotion research in food and beverage as well as in a range of product and clinical settings Finally there is a treatment of cross cultural research on emotions This is critical because much of the newer commercial research is aimed at markets around the world requiring methods which work in many cultures The book ends with an integrative summary of the material presented Serves as the first book on the market on emotion measurement aimed at sensory scientists and production development practitioners working in commercial R and D Also useful for psychologists with an interest in emotion Brings together applied and academic strands of emotion measurement research for the first time Focuses on cross cultural studies of emotions which is currently lacking from most of the literature in the field Twitter: A Digital Socioscope Yelena Mejova,Ingmar Weber,Michael W. O'Connor,Mariye Umay Akkaya,Kerem Kemaneci,Murat Yilmaz,Alexander Poth,Richard Messnarz,2015-10-15 This volume constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 22st EuroSPI conference held in Ankara Turkey in September October 2015 The 18 revised papers presented together with 9 selected key notes and workshop papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 49 submissions They are organized in topical sections on SPI themed case studies SPI approaches in safety critical domains SPI in social and organizational issues software process improvement best practices models and optimization approaches in SPI SPI and process assessment creating environments supporting innovation and improvement social aspects of SPI conflicts games gamification and other social approaches risk management and functional safety management Using Neurophysiological Signals that Reflect Cognitive or Affective State Anne-Marie Brouwer,Thorsten O. Zander,Jan B. F. van Erp,2015-07-27 What can we learn from spontaneously occurring brain and other physiological signals about an individual s cognitive and affective state and how can we make use of this information One line of research that is actively involved with this question is Passive Brain Computer Interfaces BCI To date most BCIs are aimed at assisting patients for whom brain signals could form an alternative output channel as opposed to more common human output channels like speech and moving the hands However brain signals possibly in combination with other physiological signals also form an output channel above and beyond the more usual ones they can potentially provide continuous online information about an individual's cognitive and affective state without the need of conscious or effortful communication. The provided information could be used in a number of ways. Examples include monitoring cognitive workload through EEG and skin conductance for adaptive automation or using ERPs in response to errors to correct for a behavioral response. While Passive BCIs make use of online neurophysiological responses and close the interaction cycle between a user and a computer system, neurophysiological responses can also be used in an offline fashion. Examples of this include detecting amygdala responses for neuromarketing and measuring EEG and pupil dilation as indicators of mental effort for optimizing information systems. The described field of applied neurophysiology can strongly benefit from high quality scientific studies that control for confounding factors and use proper comparison conditions. Another area of relevance is ethics ranging from dubious product claims, acceptance of the technology by the general public, privacy of users to possible effects that these kinds of applications may have on society as a whole. In this Research Topic we aimed to publish studies of the highest scientific quality that are directed towards applications that utilize spontaneously effortlessly generated neurophysiological signals, brain and/or other physiological signals reflecting cognitive or affective state. We especially welcomed studies that describe specific real world applications demonstrating a significant benefit compared to standard applications. We also invited original new kinds of proposed applications in this area as well as comprehensive review articles that point out what is and what is not possible according to scientific standards in this field. Finally we welcomed manuscripts on the ethical issues that are involved. Connected to the Research Topic was a workshop held on June 6 during the Fifth International Brain Computer Interface Meeting June 3-7 2013 Asilomar, California that brought together a diverse group of people who were working in this field. We discussed the state of the art and formulated major challenges as reflected in the first paper of the Research Topic.

Lemon-Aid New Cars and Trucks 2012 Phil Edmonston, 2011-01-01 Phil Edmonston, Canada's automotive Dr Phil pulls no punches. He says there's never been a better time to buy a new car or truck thanks to a stronger Canadian dollar and an auto industry offering reduced prices, more cash rebates, low financing rates, bargain leases and free auto maintenance programs. In this all new guide he says Audis are beautiful to behold but hell to own, biodegradable transmissions, rodent snack wiring and mind boggling depreciation. Many 2011-12 automobiles have chin to chest head restraints, blinding dash reflections and dash gauges that can't be seen in sunlight, not to mention painful wind tunnel roar if the rear windows are opened while underway. Ethanol and hybrid fuel saving claims have more in common with Harry Potter than the Society of Automotive Engineers. GM's 2012 Volt electric car is a mixture of hype and hypocrisy from the car company that killed its own electric car more than a decade ago. You can save 2,000 by cutting freight fees and administrative charges. Diesel annual urea fill up scams can cost you 300 including an 80 handling charge for 25 worth of urea. Lemon Aid's 2011-12 Endangered Species List: the Chinese Volvo, the Indian Jaguar and Land Rover, the Mercedes-Benz Smart Car, Mitsubishi and Suzuki.
