

A chemical equation is a representation of a chemical reaction in which the reactants are written using chemical formulas, followed by an arrow.

Chemical equation: $2H_2 + O_2 \rightarrow 2H_2O$

A coefficient represents the number of atoms or molecules of a substance that are involved in a chemical reaction. A coefficient is placed directly in front of a chemical formula.

A subscript is placed after the element symbol to indicate the number of atoms of that element in a molecule.

Why is it important to balance chemical equations?

Chemical equations must be balanced because matter is conserved. The number of atoms of each element must be the same on both sides of the equation.

What does the law of conservation of mass state?

The law of conservation of mass states that matter is neither created nor destroyed in a chemical reaction.

Week 8, Day 2

The number of protons in an atom cannot change (it is fixed) but a different number of neutrons can change.

The number of protons in an atom is fixed (it is the same for all atoms of that element) but the number of neutrons can change.

The most stable atomic configuration has a full outer shell of electrons (it is the most stable configuration for all atoms).

How does a positive ion form from a neutral atom? What is another name for a positive ion?

When an atom loses one or more electrons, it has more protons than electrons and is no longer neutral. This atom has a positive charge and is called a positive ion or cation.

How does a negative ion form from a neutral atom? What is another name for a negative ion?

When an atom gains one or more electrons, it has more electrons than protons and is no longer neutral. This atom has a negative charge and is called a negative ion or anion.

Atoms in Group 1A have 1 electron in their outer shell and Group 2A atoms have 2 electrons in their outer shell. To become more stable (like the noble gases), the atoms in Group 1A and Group 2A give up their outer electrons (lose them).

Atoms are formed by losing the first part of the element symbol and adding the suffix -ion. For example, sodium is Na, so sodium is sodium ion.

The number of protons in an atom is fixed (it is the same for all atoms of that element) but the number of neutrons can change.

When an atom loses one or more electrons, it has more protons than electrons and is no longer neutral. This atom has a positive charge and is called a positive ion or cation.

The positively charged cation and the negatively charged anion are attracted to each other. This bond forms because the oppositely charged ions are holding the two ions together.
