On the Politics of Ignorance in Nursing and Health Care Amelie Perron, Trudy Rudge, 2015-08-14 Ignorance is mostly framed as a void a gap to be filled with appropriate knowledge In nursing and health care concerns about ignorance fuel searches for knowledge expected to bring certainty to care provision preventing risk accidents or mistakes This unique volume turns the focus on ignorance as something productive in itself and works to understand how ignorance and its operations shape what we do and do not know Focusing explicitly on nursing practice and its organization within contemporary health settings Perron and Rudge draw on contemporary interdisciplinary debates to discuss social processes informed by ignorance ignorance s temporal and spatial boundaries and how ignorance defines what can be known by specific groups with differential access to power and social status Using feminist postcolonial and historical analyses this book challenges dominant conceptualizations and discusses a range of nonknowledges in nursing and health work including uncertainty abjection denial deceit and taboo It also explores the way dominant research and managerial practices perpetuate ignorance in healthcare organisations In health contexts productive forms of ignorance can help to future proof understandings about the management of healthy sick bodies and those caring for them Linking these considerations to nurses approaches to challenges in practice this book helps to unpack the power situated in the use of ignorance and pays special attention to what is safe or unsafe to know from both individual and organisational perspectives On the Politics of Ignorance in Nursing and Health Care is an innovative read for all students and researchers in nursing and the health sciences interested in understanding more about transactions between epistemologies knowledge building practices and research in the health domain It will also be of interest to scholars involved in the interdisciplinary study of ignorance

The Complacent Class Tyler Cowen, 2017-02-28 A Wall Street Journal and Washington Post Bestseller Tyler Cowen s blog Marginal Revolution is the first thing I read every morning And his brilliant new book The Complacent Class has been on my nightstand after I devoured it in one sitting I am at round the clock Cowen saturation right now Malcolm Gladwell Since Alexis de Tocqueville restlessness has been accepted as a signature American trait Our willingness to move take risks and adapt to change have produced a dynamic economy and a tradition of innovation from Ben Franklin to Steve Jobs The problem according to legendary blogger economist and best selling author Tyler Cowen is that Americans today have broken from this tradition we re working harder than ever to avoid change We re moving residences less marrying people more like ourselves and choosing our music and our mates based on algorithms that wall us off from anything that might be too new or too different Match com matches us in love Spotify and Pandora match us in music Facebook matches us to just about everything else Of course this matching culture brings tremendous positives music we like partners who make us happy neighbors who want the same things We re more comfortable But according to Cowen there are significant collateral downsides attending this comfort among them heightened inequality and segregation and decreased incentives to innovate and create The Complacent Class argues that this cannot go on forever We are postponing change due to our near sightedness and extreme desire for comfort but ultimately this will make change when it comes harder The forces unleashed by the Great Stagnation will eventually lead to a major fiscal and budgetary crisis impossibly expensive rentals for our most attractive cities worsening of residential segregation and a decline in our work ethic The only way to avoid this difficult future is for Americans to force themselves out of their comfortable slumber to embrace their restless tradition again

Reinventing America's Schools David Osborne, 2017-09-05 From David Osborne the author of Reinventing Government a biting analysis of the failure of America s public schools and a comprehensive plan for revitalizing American education In Reinventing America s Schools David Osborne one of the world s foremost experts on public sector reform offers a comprehensive analysis of the charter school movements and presents a theory that will do for American schools what his New York Times bestseller Reinventing Government did for public governance in 1992 In 2005 when Hurricane Katrina devastated New Orleans the city got an unexpected opportunity to recreate their school system from scratch The state s Recovery School District RSD created to turn around failing schools gradually transformed all of its New Orleans schools into charter schools and the results are shaking the very foundations of American education Test scores school performance scores graduation and dropout rates ACT scores college going rates and independent studies all tell the same story the city s RSD schools have tripled their effectiveness in eight years Now other cities are following suit with state governments reinventing failing schools in Newark Camden Memphis Denver Indianapolis Cleveland and Oakland In this book Osborne uses compelling stories from cities like New Orleans and lays out the history and possible future of public education Ultimately he uses his extensive research to argue that in today's world we should treat every public school like a charter school and grant them autonomy accountability diversity of school designs and parental choice In Their Place

Stephen Crossley, 2017-08-20 This book critiques how impoverished communities are represented by politicians the media academics and policy makers and how our understanding of these neighbourhoods is often misleadingly shaped by these stories The alleged behavioural failings of poor people have attracted a great deal of academic and political scrutiny Spatial inequalities are also well documented and poor neighbourhoods have been extensively researched However other spaces have been reimagined in different ways by politicians academics journalists and social reformers These imagined geographies include exoticised slums cities being reclaimed by nature the street and domestic spaces like the kitchen or even the bedroom In Their Place highlights how these spaces are represented and how these representations are deployed manipulating political and media discourses around the individuals and communities who live there These distortions are often used to keep people in their place by making sure everyone knows where the poor belong This book will reorient those interested in human geography away from deprived neighbourhoods and back to the foundational spaces where political decisions and poverty are made in Britain today Computers Supported Education Gennaro Costagliola, James

Uhomoibhi, Susan Zvacek, Bruce M. McLaren, 2017-08-02 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed proceedings of the 8th International Conference on Computer Supported Education CSEDU 2016 held in Rome Italy in April 2016 The 29 revised full papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 164 submissions The papers deal with the following topics new educational environments best practices and case studies of innovative technology based learning strategies institutional policies on computer supported education including open and distance education Banking on Equality Supriti

Bezbaruah, 2015-03-24 It may well be surprising to say that the world should look to India as a model of gender equality India's banking sector proves the exception with several women reaching the highest positions in India's top banks including the country's largest bank Based on interviews and surveys of bank employees in India's National Capital Region this book looks at what lies behind the media rhetoric and provides a systematic analysis of patterns of and responses to gender inequality in the banking sector in India The book uncovers how gender discrimination still persists in the banking sector albeit in covert forms Through a comparison of nationalized Indian private and foreign banks the book demonstrates how the impact of laws local cultural norms and gendered workplace practices are mediated through different organizational forms in these different types of banks to create varied experiences of gender inequality The book is one of the first books to provide a thorough in depth analysis of women's employment in the Indian banking sector currently an under researched area Market

Expansion and Social Dumping in Europe Magdalena Bernaciak, 2015-06-05 The term social dumping regularly appears in public debates and in policymaking circles However due to its ambiguity it is used in a manner that is convenient for individual discourse participants thus opening the door for misconceptions and ill grounded accusations This book systematically examines social dumping in the context of the European integration process. It defines social dumping as the practice undertaken by self-interested market participants of undermining or evading existing social regulations with the aim of gaining a competitive advantage. It also shows how the two major EU integration projects, the creation of the Internal Market and EU enlargement to the east and to the south, have provided market actors with new incentives and opportunities to contest existing social constraints. The empirical chapters examine social dumping practices accompanying labour migration, employee posting, and cross-border investment distribution. In addition, they outline the process of formation of social standards and trace initiatives at EU and national levels that contribute to the spread of social dumping in Europe. This book will be of interest to scholars and students of employment relations, EU studies, international political economy, globalisation studies, welfare studies, social policy, and migration studies.

Consumer Involvement in Private EU Competition Law Enforcement Maria Ioannidou, 2015-09-03. Despite the growing importance of consumer welfare in EU competition law debates, there remains a significant disconnect between rhetoric and reality as consumers and their interests still play only an ancillary role in this area of law. Consumer Involvement in Private EU Competition Law Enforcement is the first monograph to exclusively address this highly topical and much-debated subject, providing a timely and wide-ranging examination of the need for more active consumer participation in competition law. Written by an expert in the field, it sets out a comprehensive framework of policy implications and arguments for greater involvement, positioning the debate in the context of a broader EU law perspective. It outlines pragmatic approaches to remedial and procedural measures that would enable consumer empowerment. Finally, the book identifies key institutional and political obstacles to the adoption of effective measures and suggests alternative routes to enhance the role of consumers in private competition law enforcement. The book's innovative approach, combining normative analysis and practical solutions, makes it invaluable for academics, policy makers, and practitioners in the field.

Film and Identity in Kazakhstan Rico Isaacs, 2018-02-07. Cinema and nationalism are two fundamentally modern phenomena, but how have films shaped our understanding of the creation and imagining of Central Asian nations? Here Rico Isaacs uses cinema as an analytical lens to explore how the Kazakh national identity has been constructed and contested. Drawing on an analysis of Kazakh films from the last century and featuring new interviews with directors and critics involved in the Central Asian film industry, his book traces the construction of nationalism within Kazakh cinema from the country's inception as a Soviet Republic to a modern independent nation. Isaacs identifies four narratives since the collapse of the Soviet Union: a warrior-like ethnic narrative rooted in the 18th-century struggles against the Mongolian Oirat tribes; a civic-inspired narrative cemented in the Stalinist deportations of the 1930s and 40s; a religious narrative founded within the mystic and philosophical religion of Tengrism and the cult of the Sky God; and a socio-economic narrative which roots Kazakh nationhood and identity in contemporary social divisions, the lived day-to-day experiences of ordinary citizens, and the struggles they face with authority. These last two tropes demonstrate how cinema has emerged as a site of dissent against the country's authoritarian regime under President Nazarbayev. Film and Identity in Kazakhstan advances our understanding of Kazakhstan and nationalism by demonstrating the multiple and inessential character of each and illustrates the important role of cinema in contesting political power in the post-Soviet space. Making Cultural Cities in Asia June Wang, Tim Oakes, Yang Yang, 2015-12-22 This book examines the vast and largely uncharted world of cultural creative city making in Asia. It explores the establishment of policy models and practices against the backdrop of a globalizing world and considers the dynamic relationship between powerful actors and resources that impact Asian cities. Making Cultural Cities in Asia approaches this dynamic process through the lens of assemblage: how the policy models of cultural creative cities have been extracted from the flow of ideas and how re-invented versions have been assembled, territorialized and exported. This approach reveals a spectrum between globally circulating ideals on the one hand and the place-based contexts and contingencies on the other. At one end of the spectrum, this book features chapters on policy mobility in particular the political construction of the web of communication and the restructuring or rescaling of the state. At the other end, chapters examine the increasingly fragmented social forces, their changing roles in the process and their negotiations, alignments and resistances. This book will be of interest to researchers and policy makers concerned with cultural and urban studies, creative industries and Asian studies.
