Thompson, 2023-10-10 Math coach Kassia Omohundro Wedekind and literacy coach Christy Hermann Thompson have spent years comparing notes on how to build effective classroom communities across the content areas. How they wondered can we lay the groundwork for classroom conversations that are less teacher directed and more conducive to student to student dialogue? Their answers start with Hands Down Conversations, an innovative discourse structure in which students' ideas and voices take the lead while teachers focus on listening and facilitating. In addition to classroom stories and examples, Christy and Kassia provide 28 micro lessons designed to help K-5 students develop and exercise their speaking and listening muscles. Inside Hands Down Speak Out, you'll learn how to build talk communities that are accessible to everyone, especially those whose voices are often traditionally left out of classroom discourse. Analyze classroom conversations in order to plan next steps for developing the classroom talk community. Plan and facilitate three types of conversations across literacy and math. Christy and Kassia believe that the development of dialogue skills is worth the investment of time not only because it has the power to deepen our understanding of literacy and mathematics but also to deepen our understanding of ourselves, our communities, and the world.

IJER Vol 6-N2 International Journal of Educational Reform, 1997-04-01 The mission of the International Journal of Educational Reform (IJER) is to keep readers up to date with worldwide developments in education reform by providing scholarly information and practical analysis from recognized international authorities. As the only peer reviewed scholarly publication that combines authors' voices without regard for the political affiliations, perspectives, or research methodologies, IJER provides readers with a balanced view of all sides of the political and educational mainstream. To this end, IJER includes but is not limited to inquiry based and opinion pieces on developments in such areas as policy, administration, curriculum, instruction, law, and research. IJER should thus be of interest to professional educators with decision making roles and policymakers at all levels, since it provides a broad based conversation between and among policymakers, practitioners, and academicians about reform goals, objectives, and methods for success throughout the world. Readers can call on IJER to learn from an international group of reform implementers by discovering what they can do that has actually worked. IJER can also help readers to understand the pitfalls of current reforms in order to avoid making similar mistakes. Finally, it is the mission of IJER to help readers to learn about key issues in school reform from movers and shakers who help to study and shape the power base directing educational reform in the U.S. and the world. Connected
