Munday, 2022-06-10 This is a love story It is a journey through horrendous grief traveling through unbelievable shock to a destination of giving sharing love in the way it is supposed to be universal When I read Marlys in Heaven some time ago my heart was deeply touched This book is what was done with those memories How does our culture see love Romantic and certainly this was a huge part of recovery Love is vast I'm reminded of my high school motto Amor Vincit Omnia Love conquers all When I read on I realized that these two amazing people took that pain and together with their faith did so much to bring love to the less fortunate They didn't just accept the church's teachings they examined who would touch their hearts and souls to do so much for Marlys's memory It is that love that sustains them to this day Overcoming is not the same as getting over Simply that beloved daughter will always remain the Grand Canyon of their hearts as they continue on their spiritual path It seems to me they have planted beautiful flowers in that canyon in memory of the lovely Marlys In their case there is a strong practical aspect The reality is that people are suffering all over the world Fran and John have done so much to alleviate that condition I am writing the effect this book had on me Nothing I say will do it justice It is a must read for all Not only does it highlight the huge risks they had to take the decisions they made the disappointment setbacks joys It is a testament to Marlys who turned grief into intense love and commitment I am reminded of a tapestry that hangs on my office door from the Dalai Lama This is my simple religion There is no need for temples No need for complicated philosophies My brain and my heart are my temples My philosophy is kindness This is how I see Fran and John They have taken what was the unthinkable and made it into a vibrant memorial to the beautiful Marlys This is the sentence that summed it all up for me When driving along the Saint Croix River Fran said I miss Marlys but I have my memories I need to live with what I have now Just keep driving So that s what they did and are still doing driving on Yvonne Kaye PhD MSC www.yvonnekayewisdom.com

Cooking in America, 1840-1945 Alice L. McLean,2006-08-30 This cookbook covers the years 1840 through 1945 a time during which American cookery underwent a full scale revolution Gas and electric stoves replaced hearth cookery Milk products came from commercial dairy farms rather than the family cow Daily meals were no longer bound by seasons and regions as canned bottled and eventually frozen products flooded the market and trains began to transport produce and meat from one end of the country to the other During two World Wars and the Great Depression women entered the work force in unprecedented numbers and household servants abandoned low paying domestic jobs to work in factories As a result of these monumental changes American home cooking became irrevocably simplified and cookery skills geared more toward juggling time to comb grocery store shelves for the best and most economical products than toward butchering and preserving an entire animal carcass or pickling fruits and vegetables This cookbook reflects these changes with each of the three chapters capturing the home cooking that typified the era The first chapter covers the pre industrial period 1840 to 1875 during this time home cooks knew how to broil roast grill fry and boil on an open hearth flame and its embers without getting severely injured They also handled whole sheep carcasses made gelatin from boiled pigs trotters grew their own yeast and prepared their own preserves The second chapter covers 1876 through 1910 a time when rapid urbanization transformed the United States from an agrarian society into an industrial giant giving rise to food corporations such as Armour Swift Campbell s Heinz and Pillsbury The mass production and mass marketing of commercial foods began to transform home cooking meat could be purchased from a local butcher or grocery store and commercial gelatin became widely available While many cooks still made their own pickles and preserves commercial varieties multiplied From 1910 to 1945 the period covered by Chapter 3 the home cook became a full fledged consumer and the national food supply became standardized to a large extent As the industrialization of the American food supply progressed commercially produced breads pastries sauces pickles and preserves began to take over kitchen cupboards and undermine the home cooks ability to produce their own meals from scratch The recipes have been culled from some of the most popular commercial and community cookbooks of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Taken together the more than 300 recipes reflect the major cookbook trends of the era evolved as a result of migration settlement and mission how food and gender identities relate to both power and fear how cookbooks and recipes are full of social meaning how experiences and memories of food scarcity shape identity and how food is an expression of religious beliefs as a symbol in ritual and in acts of charity From zwieback to tamales and from sauerkraut to spring rolls Eating Like a Mennonite reveals food as a complex ingredient in ethnic religious and personal identities with the ability to create both bonds and boundaries between people      The Publishers' Trade List Annual ,1975
