

Dear Parents of Mrs. X,

I would like to introduce myself as your ROOM Parent! I am here to help plan the parties, get Mrs. X gifts, but mostly to help make this a great year for our kids! I am VERY open to help from any and all of you!

First, I'd like to give you some important info:

1. Class parties include: (see your teacher)
 - Halloween
 - Winter
 - Spring
 - End of Year

(As a general rule...all parties will be the day before school is let out (usually a Friday) and will follow a recess)

2. Teacher Gifts/Events include:
 - Her birthday
 - Winter Holiday
 - Teacher Appreciation Gift
 - End of Year

For each party, I'll put a SIGN-UP SHEET on the door a week before the party or send an email asking for things like (drinks, cupcakes, chips, plates, etc.)

For the gifts, rather than asking for donations for each gift individually, this letter is requesting each family provide a single donation now. Our goal is to collect $5-$15 dollars from each family. However, please donate what you are able!

I am looking to a FUN FILLED year for our children, as well as Mrs. X!

Please FEEL FREE to contact me at any time!!

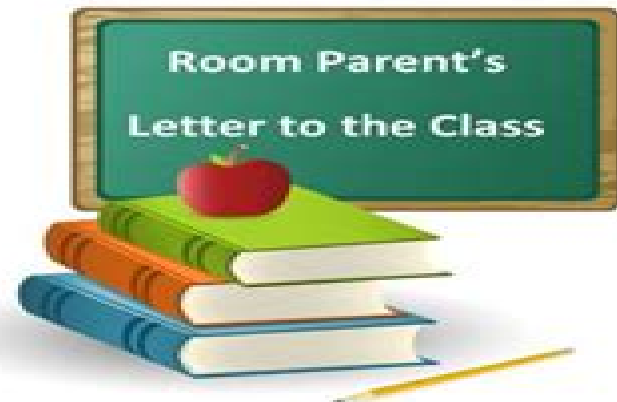

Thank you again.

Throughout the twentieth century the United States implemented social policies targeting the needs of dependent parents: parents who were no longer able to work but lacked sufficient financial resources to support themselves. These parent dependency policies either encouraged or required family members, particularly adult children, to provide support as an alternative to government benefits. Debates over how best to support aging parents centered on conceptualizations of dependency and the moral obligations family owed their parents. Measures of dependency often inhibited aging Americans access to benefits they needed, focusing instead on ensuring that they were in fact dependent and that other family resources were not available. Susan Stein Roggenbuck highlights this understudied aspect of the modern US welfare state, highlighting the limited support provided to aging parents and the hardship they and their adult children endured in the efforts to minimize public expenditures. The Game

Repossessing the World Helen M. Buss, 2006-01-01 Why does it seem as if everyone is writing memoirs and particularly women The current popularity of memoir verifies the common belief that we each have a story to tell And we do especially women Memoirs are not only representations of women's personal lives but also of their desire to repossess important parts of our culture in which women's stories have not mattered Beginning with her own motivations for writing memoirs Helen M Buss examines the many kinds of memoir written by contemporary women memoirs about growing up memoirs about traumatic events about relationships about work In writing memoirs these women publicly assert that their lives have mattered They reshape the memoir a form as old as the middle ages and as young as today into a social discourse that blends the personal with the political the self with the significant other literature with history and fiction with autobiography and essay Buss urges readers to use their reading experience to help themselves understand and write the significance of their own lives Repossessing the World is the first book length critical inquiry into women's use of a form that has often been dismissed as less important than autobiography less professional than the novel and less intellectual than the formal essay Buss demonstrates that the memoir makes its own art not only through selective borrowing from these genres but also through the unique way that the tripartite narrative voice of the memoir constructs the personal and public experience of the memoirist as significant to our cultural moment
