Fill in the blanks with the correct word or phrase. Write your answers in the spaces provided.

The nervous system is made up of two main parts: the central nervous system and the peripheral nervous system. The central nervous system is made up of the brain and the spinal cord. The peripheral nervous system is made up of all the other parts of the nervous system, including the nerve roots, nerve plexuses, and peripheral nerves.

The nervous system is responsible for controlling and coordinating the body's activities. It does this by receiving information from the senses and sending out instructions to the muscles and glands. The nervous system also controls the body's internal functions, such as heart rate, breathing, and digestion.

 the recovery of water other products and energy This book is a collection of contributions on recent advancements in electromembrane processes attained via experiments and or models The first paper is a comprehensive review article on the applications of electrodialysis for wastewater treatment highlighting current status technical challenges and key points for future perspectives The second paper focuses on ZSM 5 zeolite PVA mixed matrix CEMs with high monovalent permselectivity for recovering either acid or Li The third paper regards direct numerical simulations of electroconvection in an electrodialysis dilute channel with forced flow under potentiodynamic and galvanodynamic regimes The fourth paper investigates the reasons for the formation and properties of soliton like charge waves in overlimiting conditions The fifth paper focuses on the characterization of AEMs functionalized by surface modification via poly acrylic acid yielding monovalent permselectivity for reverse electrodialysis In the sixth paper CFD simulations of reverse electrodialysis systems are performed The seventh paper proposes an integrated membrane process including electrochemical intercalation deintercalation for the preparation of Li_2CO_3 from brine with a high Mg^{2+} / Li^{+} mass ratio Finally the eighth paper is a perspective article devoted to the acid base flow battery with monopolar and bipolar membranes Colossal Magnetoresistive Manganites Tapan Chatterji, 2012-12-06 The physics of transition metal oxides has become a central topic of interest to condensed matter scientists ever since high temperature superconductivity was discovered in hole doped cuprates with perovskite like structures Although the renewed interest in hole doped perovskite manganites following the discovery of their colossal magnetoresistance CMR properties began in 1993 about a decade after the discovery of high temperature superconductivity their first investigation started as early as 1950 and basic theoretical ideas were developed during 1951 1960 Experience in sample preparation and characterization and in growth of single crystals and epitaxial thin films gained during the research on high temperature superconductors and the development of theoretical tools were very efficiently used in research on CMR manganites In early nineties it appeared to many condensed matter physicists that although the problem of high temperature superconductivity is a difficult one to solve a quantitative understanding of CMR phenomena might be well within reach This book is intended to be an account of the latest developments in the physics of CMR manganites When I planned this book back in 2000 I thought that research on the physics of CMR manganites would be more or less consolidated by the time this would be published I was obviously very optimistic indeed We are now in 2003 and we still do not have a quantitative understanding of the central CMR effect Meanwhile the field has expanded It is still a very active field of research on both the experimental and theoretical fronts
