Constructing History 11-19 Hilary Cooper, Arthur Chapman, 2009-07-09 This book describes and exemplifies strategies for teaching history across the 11 19 age range in rigorous and enjoyable ways It illustrates active learning approaches embedded in pupil led enquiries through detailed case studies which involve students in planning and carrying out historical enquiries creating accounts and presenting them to audiences in ways that develop increasingly sophisticated historical thinking The case studies took place in a number of different localities and show how practising teachers worked with pupils during each year from Y6 7 to Y 13 to initiate plan and implement enquiries and to present their findings in a variety of ways Each case study is a practical example which teachers can use as a model and modify for their own contexts showing how independent learning linked to group collaboration and peer assessment can enhance learning Social constructivist theories of learning applied to historical thinking underpin the book with particular emphasis on links between personalised and collaborative learning and e learning

Primary and Secondary Education in Sierra Leone Collier, Ebenezer, 2016-03-29 Colonial education was instituted in Sierra Leone as a consequence of the activities of British philanthropic and missionary bodies from the late 19th to mid 20th century It was largely in the hands of Christian missionaries introduced in the form of evangelism and as part of Western missionary enterprise Such education basically ignored the achievements and contributions of the indigenous populations and for the most part did not cultivate the African student s self esteem and pride The author gives details of policies programmes and statistical outcomes It is important particularly for policy makers as it may serve as input to the debate on future education policy development and has the potential for contributing to research literature on implementation of educational policies Sierra Leoneans should access the previously lacking and relevant knowledge of the development of education during the fifty years of Independence as presented in this book As such it will also be a valuable resource for college and university lecturers

Developing the Workforce, Shaping the Future Sajitha Bashir, 2009-02-04 With challenges similar to those faced by a number of low income countries Madagascar faces critical policy choices with respect to post basic education Enrolment ratios in senior secondary education and tertiary education are 10 percent and 3 percent respectively among the lowest in the world Critical skill shortages and pervasive inequities in access necessitate changes in the quantity and quality of education and skills The increasing number of basic education completers and demographic growth are mounting pressure on the government to expand access to post basic education Responding to these economic and social challenges the government has made the transformation of education one of the key priorities of the Madagascar Action Plan However low domestic revenues and competing demands from other sectors including basic education limit the room for maneuver Caught between these two pincers policy makers often choose to sacrifice quality over expanding access or are unable to develop a long term vision Developing the Workforce Shaping the Future presents Madagascar s core challenges and argues persuasively that the time for transforming the post basic education system is now It documents the poor performance of the post basic education system in the areas of quality and relevance internal efficiency equity and financial inefficiency The report presents a sequence of prioritization of reforms focusing on improving education content and linkages with the economy increasing coverage cost effectively through the adoption of new planning norms for public institutions utilization of the private sector and innovations in open flexible learning and creating the enabling framework through reforms of governance finance and management The report provides a convincing reform scenario for a low income country with actions to be undertaken in the medium and long term to sustain the development of post basic education in an environment of limited public resources and implementation capacity Policy makers in other developing countries will find this report useful to gauge their own strategies for post basic education

Reforms and Issues in School Mathematics in East Asia ,2010-01-01 Worldwide efforts to improve students learning of mathematics have turned educational researchers attention to some high achieving education systems especially those in East Asia including Chinese Mainland Hong Kong Japan Singapore South Korea and Taiwan However there is much less sharing and learning of educational policy and practices that goes beyond one or two such high achieving education systems At this time when educational changes and reforms for improving students learning of mathematics are also underway within these high achieving education systems in East Asia it becomes timely and important for the world to learn why and how relevant changes take place across these selected education systems This book has put together a set of papers that individually presents issues on the changing mathematics curriculum and teacher education in the six high achieving education systems in East Asia Collectively the book extends beyond what we can learn about exemplary practices in individual education systems in East Asia It helps us develop a better understanding of the interplay between various measures for the pursuit of excellence in mathematics curriculum and teacher education on the one hand and the different system contexts on the other The intended readers of the book include education policy makers curriculum developers researchers teachers teacher educators and anyone else interested in school mathematics curriculum and teacher education
