Laver Fawcett, 2013-03-15 This textbook on assessment and outcome measurement is written for both occupational therapy and physiotherapy students and qualified therapists. Methods of data collection e.g. observation, interview, standardised testing and sources e.g. self-report proxy for collecting information about clients are then reviewed and the main purposes of assessment e.g. descriptive, evaluative, predictive, discriminative presented. The book then addresses the topics of standardisation, levels of measurement, reliability, validity and clinical utility. There is a chapter describing and applying models for categorizing levels of function to aid assessment and measurement. The concept of clinical reasoning and reflective practice is then explored. Application of principles is supported through detailed case studies and worksheets and the criteria for test critique and guidelines for choosing a particular assessment approach are discussed.

Occupational Therapy Evaluation for Children : a Pocket Guide Shelley Mulligan, 2014 In pediatrics occupational therapy practitioners are concerned most with positively impacting the extent to which children and their families are able to successfully and meaningfully go about their daily lives whether it be playing, learning, working, caring for oneself or others or socializing. Clinical decisions made throughout the evaluation process ultimately shape what and how occupational therapy practitioners deliver interventions, perhaps making the evaluation process the most important and interesting part of the service delivery process. It is the context where we first come to know and appreciate our clients, their specific situations and discover what it is that we as occupational therapy practitioners can do to be of most help.
