Approaches to Early Learning Research and Practice Kenneth R. Pugh, Peggy McCardle, Annie Stutzman, 2018-02-26 The health development and learning of many young children living in disadvantage areas are at serious risk Access to education has improved under the United Nations Millennium Development Goals and there are now programs in low and middle income countries that are aimed at improving instruction and learning The research and evaluation on the effectiveness of such programs show there are significant challenges but also some successes This issue features presentations of leading international scientists representatives from key governmental and non governmental organizations and others working with programs in the developing world and disadvantaged populations The presentations describe the goals existing challenges and potential approaches to providing evidence based programs to young children in rural remote and poverty stricken areas Topics covered include the state of early childhood in low and middle income nations programs that have shown some success and innovative research approaches that have been often considered unfeasible in these contexts This is the 158th volume in this Jossey Bass series New Directions for Child and Adolescent Development Its mission is to provide scientific and scholarly presentations on cutting edge issues and concepts in this subject area Each volume focuses on a specific new direction or research topic and is edited by experts from that field Girls Have Academic Advantages and So Do Boys Jodie Fonseca, Laiba Bahrawar, Margaret M. Dubeck, Yasmin Sitabkhan, Christopher Cummiskey, Devanshi Unadkat, 2023-05-15 This paper contains a new analysis of gender differences in early grade reading and mathematics outcomes in 19 USAID funded studies over the past decade from 14 locations in Africa Asia Latin America and the Middle East The paper addresses gaps in the literature related to learning patterns for girls and boys in lower and middle income countries and in early primary school We analyzed the results from reading and mathematics assessments in grades 2 and 3 including differences in oral reading fluency ORF and quantitative comparison scores between boys and girls as well as differences in score distributions by gender In line with results from assessments in upper grades and in wealthier countries we found that girls consistently outperformed boys in reading In mathematics boys slightly outperformed girls although the differences were typically not large Global experience has shown that patterns in poor performance become more entrenched the further learners progress through the grades suggesting that early interventions for boys in reading and girls in mathematics could have long term benefits At the same time both girls and boys typically score below expectations in the two subjects across countries necessitating targeted strategies to improve outcomes for both genders early in their educational trajectories
