

Classroom Observation and Reflection Paper

Classroom Observation and Reflection Paper MTE/501 The Art of Science and Teaching Regis Lawrence For my classroom observation I had the opportunity of sitting in on a first grade regular education classroom. Listed below are the following that relates to the teacher's classroom design. Teacher's educational goals I asked for the teachers educational goals and wasn't surprised that our goals shared some of the same objectives. In terms of teaching she wanted to provide the best education possible and go over and beyond the call of duty to make that a reality, without excuses. Should a student need additional tutorial assistance due to performing below grade level she would set up a schedule to make those accommodations. ...show more content...

Keeping the standards in a designated area is there for anyone (administator) to come into the class and see what you are working on. Each day she would have a student read the standard that would be covered that day. The learning objectives were kept in plain sight on a sentence strip. Teaching Methods Throughout the lesson she would walk around and interact with the students to make should they were on task and understanding the assignment. She provided visual aids to assist in the lesson and allowed students to pair with each other in order to provide extra help. Students had to sit up straight in class and track the teacher while she was at the board during whole group instruction. One thing I really loved because its someshing I do in my classroom. All students were required to raise their hands when asked a respond to a question regarding the lesson. Use of technology as a resource It is really amazing how excited students get with the possibility of using the computer in the classroom to assist them with their lesson. The teacher added that she uses it as a reward system, stating how affective it is in maintaining order and control in the classroom. Students knew how to navigate, go to various websites that were related to the lesson and create a folder in which to put their assignments in. .

Reflections on Methodology Max Travers, 2025-03-28 Reflections on Methodology offers a new and engaging means of teaching Honours students or those starting a PhD in Sociology about methodological issues Instead of the usual survey approach it shows the importance of debates about methodology the value of an ethnographic approach and the challenges of applied research through a series of case studies The text offers insightful short essays on methodological issues such as critical theory interpretivism and mixed methods alongside Travers reflections on significant ethnographic projects in areas like court reform comparative criminology and immigration control The book combines methodological discussions with autobiographical elements making complex research topics accessible and grounded in real world applications The central theme and argument are that the thoughtful sociologist should seek to move from the outside to the inside of institutions and social groups and the transformative effect on understanding is illustrated through a number of ethnographic projects This is also an end of career book it employs an autobiographical narrative approach in describing how Max Travers intellectual interests developed the importance of methodological debate and the challenges of doing applied research There are also chapters that review developments in teaching and research in universities over the last thirty years This book offers resources that give variety and encourage Honours students to think critically about research Each 5 000 words chapter is self contained with an abstract provocative guide to further reading exercise and questions

Imagining the Dead in British

Literature and Culture, 1790–1848 David McAllister, 2018-09-29 This book offers the first account of the dead as an imagined community in the early nineteenth century It examines why Romantic and Victorian writers including Wordsworth Dickens De Quincey Godwin and DIsraeli believed that influencing the imaginative conception of the dead was a way to either advance or resist social and political reform This interdisciplinary study contributes to the burgeoning field of Death Studies by drawing on the work of both canonical and lesser known writers reformers and educationalists to show how both literary representation of the dead and the burial and display of their corpses in churchyards dissecting rooms and garden cemeteries responded to developments in literary aesthetics psychology ethics and political philosophy Imagining the Dead in British Literature and Culture 1790 1848 shows that whether they were lauded as exemplars or loathed as tyrants rendered absent by burial or made uncannily present through exhumation and display the dead were central to debates about the shape and structure of British society as it underwent some of the most radical transformations in its history The

Archive Project Niamh Moore, Andrea Salter, Liz Stanley, Maria Tamboukou, 2016-07-28 Recent scholarship on archival research has raised questions concerning the character and impact of the archive on how the traces of the past are researched the use and analysis of different kinds of archived data methodological approaches to the practicalities involved and what kind of theory is drawn on and contributed to by such research The Archive Project Archival Research in the Social Sciences builds on these questions exploring key methodological ideas and debates and engaging in detail with a wide range of archival projects and practices in order to put to use important theoretical ideas that shed light on the methods involved Offering an overview of the current state of the field and written by four authors with extensive experience in conducting research in and creating archives around the world it demonstrates the different ways in which archival methodology practice and theory can be employed It also shows how the ideas and approaches detailed in the book can be put into practice by other researchers working on different kinds of archives and collections The volume engages with crucial questions including What is an archive and how does it come into existence Why do archival research and how is it done How can sense be made of the scale and scope of collections and archives What are the best ways to analyse the traces of the past that remain What are helpful criteria for evaluating the knowledge claims produced by archival research What is the importance of community archives How has the digital turn changed the way in which archival research is carried out What role is played by the questions that researchers bring into an archive How do we deal with unexpected encounters in the archive A rigorous and accessible examination of the methods and choices that shape research on the ground and the ways in which theory practice and methodology inform one another this book will appeal to scholars across the social sciences and humanities with interests in archival and documentary research Ethnography Martyn Hammersley, Paul Atkinson, 1995 Thoroughly updated and substantially rewritten the second edition of this popular textbook is now even more relevant and useful for students and researchers In this accessible introduction to the methods of ethnographic fieldwork Hammersley and

Atkinson reconsider the status of ethnography and seek to place it quite explicitly in a general methodological context Ethnography provides a systematic and coherent account of ethnographic principles and practices From an outline of the principle of reflexivity the authors go on to discuss and exemplify the main features of ethnographic work such as the selection and sampling of cases the problems of access observation and interviewing recording and filing data and the process of data analysis There is also consideration of the ethical issues surrounding ethnographic research Throughout the discussion draws on a wide range of illustrative material from classic and more recent studies in Britain and the US

Astronomical Contributions from the University of Manchester University of Manchester, 1956 Miscellaneous Papers of the University Observatory, Oxford University of Oxford. Observatory, 1910

The 1797 Naval Mutinies and Popular Protest in Britain Callum Easton, 2025-09-02 This book offers a holistic re evaluation of the Spithead and Nore mutinies of 1797 which immobilised the two Royal Navy fleets responsible for Britain s defence at a time when invasion seemed likely The mutinies represent two of the most serious manifestations of collective resistance in eighteenth century Britain yet they have received relatively little attention in recent historiography This book challenges the predominant view that the mutinies represented attempts at revolutionary uprising arguing that the mutineers were instead focused on the mutineers understanding of fairness and focused on securing appropriate wages In doing so it presents an opportunity to scrutinise foundational elements of British society from notions of reciprocal rights and responsibilities to relations between the state and individuals

The Final Buyer Alfred Henry Abbati, 1928

Robert Boyle Reconsidered Michael Hunter, 2003-12-18 This book presents a new view of Robert Boyle 1627-91 the leading British scientist in the generation before Newton It comprises a series of essays by scholars from Europe and North America that scrutinize Boyle's writing on science philosophy and theology bringing out the subtlety and complexity of his ideas Particular attention is given to Boyle's interest in alchemy and to other facets of his ideas that might initially seem surprising in a leading advocate of the mechanical philosophy Many of the essays use material from among Boyle's extensive manuscripts which have recently been catalogued for the first time The introduction surveys the state of Boyle studies and deploys the findings of the essays to offer a reevaluation of Boyle The book also includes a complete bibliography of writings on Boyle since 1940

Managing the Euro Crisis Sabrina Ragone, 2017-11-22 The financial crisis posed new challenges for the administrations of Eurozone countries including how to respect EU obligations when the economy is under stress How to improve the overall implementation of EU policies and domestic reforms How to negotiate effectively with the Troika and then quickly and efficiently fulfil the requirements of the Memoranda of Understanding This volume offers the first analysis of EU coordination by national executives in the light of the legal and political consequences of the crisis using case studies of five severely affected Member States Cyprus Greece Ireland Italy and Portugal It examines from an interdisciplinary perspective how they have adapted their coordination systems since the outbreak of the crisis shedding light on the adjustments undertaken by domestic administrations The comparison reveals that in this process Prime Ministers and Ministers of Finance were empowered in a common shift towards the centralization of EU coordination
