Remembering Julius Nyerere in Tanzania Marie-Aude Fouere, 2015-11-06 This edited volume is about the rekindled investment in the figure of the first president Julius K Nyerere in contemporary Tanzania It explores how Nyerere is remembered by Tanzanians from different levels of society in what ways and for what purposes Looking into what Nyerere means and stands for today it provides insight into the media the political arena poetry the education sector or street corner talks The main argument of this book is that Nyerere has become a widely shared political metaphor used to debate and contest conceptions of the Tanzanian nation and Tanzanian ness The state citizens relationship the moral standards for the exercise of power and the contours of national sentiment are under scrutiny when the figure of Nyerere is mobilized today The contributions gathered here come from a generation of budding or renowned scholars in varied disciplines history anthropology and political science Drawing upon materials collected through extensive fieldwork and archival research they all critically engage the existing literature about Tanzania and prevailing political narratives to explore how nationhood is re imagined in Tanzania today through assent and contest Makerere University in Transition 1993-2000 Nakanyike Musisi, Nansozi K. Muwanga, 2003 Makerere University was first established as a colonial university and its challenge is to consolidate and improve on previous bold reforms The Partnership for Higher Education in Africa commissioned case studies of higher education provision in Tanzania Uganda Kenya Mozambique Nigeria Ghana and South Africa as part of its effort to stimulate enlightened equitable and knowledge based national development and to provide guides to understanding Makerere University has shown tremendous resilience from its establishment as a colonial university through the economic hardships political instability and mismanagement that began in the 1970s It has embarked on an impressive road to recovery involving numerous bold reforms The challenge now is to harness sustain improve and consolidate these changes In association with Partnership for Higher Education in Africa Uganda Fountain Publishers Social Policy in Sub-Saharan African Context J. Adésinà, 2007-07-12 This volume reviews Africa s past experiences of social policy with an eye on the future Contributions examine a range of social policy issues around healthcare education the labour market and social welfare and highlight important conceptual and policy issues for rebuilding Africa Kenya National Assembly Official Record (Hansard) , 1974-05-28 The official records of the proceedings of the Legislative Council of the Colony and Protectorate of Kenya the House of Representatives of the Government of Kenya and the National Assembly of the Republic of Kenya States and Public Policy Olivier Provini, 2025-08-03 Why did students start paying tuition fees at African universities How did public universities become increasingly expensive for the large numbers of young people they are supposed to be educating This book helps us to understand the reasons for this and reminds us that change is always the result of political compromise The book looks at the higher education reforms carried out since the 1980s in four East African countries with unique historical and political trajectories Uganda Kenya Tanzania and Burundi Through a rigorous well documented analysis the author provides valuable insights into the fundamental political issues facing development actors in the South the transformation of state intervention the training of national elites and the marketing of the education sector particularly through the highly political issue of school fees      Kenya National Assembly Official Record (Hansard) ,1974-05-28 The official records of the proceedings of the Legislative Council of the Colony and Protectorate of Kenya the House of Representatives of the Government of Kenya and the National Assembly of the Republic of Kenya      Sharing Higher Education's Promise beyond the Few in Sub-Saharan Africa Peter Darvas,Shang Gao,Yijun Shen,Bilal Bawany,2017-11-15 Despite a spectacular expansion of the higher education sector in Sub Saharan Africa the supply of tertiary education has generally failed to keep pace with demand and the region continues to lag all other regions in terms of access to tertiary education This is in part a consequence of deeply entrenched patterns of inequitable access to higher education and the perpetuation of what researchers refer to as elite systems To date access to tertiary education in Sub Saharan Africa has unduly benefitted students drawn from the region s wealthiest households and overall enrollment remains disproportionately male and metropolitan These factors stifle the catalytic potential of higher education corroding its potential for driving economic growth and sustaining poverty reduction Instead patterns of access to tertiary education have generally reinforced and reproduced social inequality instead of eroding its pernicious social and economic effects This report aims to inform an improved understanding of equity in tertiary enrollment in Sub Saharan African countries and to examine the extent to which inequity functions as a bottleneck inhibiting the ability of African universities to effectively drive improvements in overall quality of life and economic competitiveness In our survey of the evidence we also aim to identify which policies most effectively address the challenge of promoting equity of access in SSA tertiary education systems In order to achieve these objectives the report collects generates and analyzes empirical evidence on patterns of equity examines the underlying causes of inequity and evaluates government policies for addressing inequity      Strengthening Uganda's Policy Environment for Investing in University Development ,1993 In recent years Makerere University has experienced increasing student and staff unrest The academic community is demoralized by tight government controls on spending especially by inaction on staff salary demands Donor support will not be forthcoming without broad policy reform in higher education rather than piecemeal reform      Bridging the Knowledge Divide Stewart Marshall,Wanjira Kinuthia,Wallace Taylor,2009-04-01 In many international settings developing economies are in danger of declining as the digital divide becomes the knowledge divide This decline attacks the very fabric of cohesion and purpose for these regional societies delivering increased social health economic and sustainability problems The examples in this book will provide leaders policy developers researchers students and community with successful strategies and principles of ICT use in education to address these needs This book will discuss how educational technology can be used to transform education and assist developing communities to close the knowledge divide It will provide comprehensive coverage of educational technology in development in different professions and parts of world The book will provide examples of best practice case studies and principles for educators community leaders researchers and policy advisers on the use of educational technology for development In particular it will provide examples of how education can be provided more flexibly in order to provide access to hitherto disadvantaged communities and individuals African Journal of Political Science, 2004 Findings, 1998 Scholars in the Marketplace. The Dilemmas of Neo-Liberal Reform at Makerere University, 1989-2005 Mahmood Mamdani, 2007 Scholars in the Marketplace is a case study of market based reforms at Uganda's Makerere University With the World Bank heralding neoliberal reform at Makerere as the model for the transformation of higher education in Africa it has implications for the whole continent At the global level the Makerere case exemplifies the fate of public universities in a market oriented and capital friendly era The Makerere reform began in the 1990s and was based on the premise that higher education is more of a private than a public good Instead of pitting the public against the private and the state against the market this book shifts the terms of the debate toward a third alternative than explores different relations between the two The book distinguishes between privatisation and commercialisation two processes that drove the Makerere reform It argues that whereas privatisation the entry of privately sponsored students is compatible with a public university where priorities are publicly set commercialisation financial and administrative autonomy for each faculty to design a market responsive curriculum inevitably leads to a market determination of priorities in a public university The book warns against commercialisation of public universities as the subversion of public institutions for private purposes Research Universities in Africa Nico Cloete, Ian Bunting, 2018-11-09 From the early 2000s a new discourse emerged in Africa and the international donor community that higher education was important for development in Africa Within this zeitgeist of converging interests a range of agencies agreed that a different collaborative approach to linking higher education to development was necessary This led to the establishment of the Higher Education Research and Advocacy Network in Africa Herana to concentrate on research and advocacy about the possible role and contribution of universities to development in Africa This book is the final publication to emerge from the Herana project The project has also published more than 100 articles chapters reports manuals and datasets and many presentations have been delivered to share insights gained from the work done by Herana Given its prolific dissemination it seems reasonable to ask whether this fourth and final publication will offer the reader anything new This book is certainly different from previous publications in several respects First it is the only book to include an analysis of eight African universities based on the full 15 years of empirical data collected by the project Second previous books and reports were published mid project This book has benefited from an extended gestation period allowing the authors and contributors to reflect on the project without the distractions associated with managing and participating in a large scale project For the first time some of those who have been involved in Herana since its inception have had the opportunity to at least make an attempt to see part of the wood for the trees Different does not necessarily mean new An emphasis on the newness of the data and perspectives presented in this book is important because it shows that it is more than a historical record of a donor funded project Rather each chapter in this book brings to a lesser or greater extent something new to our understanding of universities research and development in Africa

Differentiation and Articulation in Tertiary Education Systems Njuguna Ng'ethe, George Subotzky, George Afeti, 2008-01-01 This title explores an area of tertiary education that is currently understudied this is the extent and nature of differentiation and articulation in African tertiary education systems The overall finding is that the binary system is dominant characterised by universities and polytechnics as distinct types of institutions Differentiation is clearly evident in Africa However though varied in nature and extent the differentiation is mostly horizontal as opposed to vertical Articulation on the other hand seems to be in its infancy as some universities in their admission requirements do

Intra-Africa Student Mobility in Higher Education Chika Trevor Sehoole, Jenny J. Lee, 2022-01-01 This book examines student mobility within Africa International student mobility is among the central activities of higher education internationalization As the number of international students increase so do the destinations in both number and geographic diversity Historically international student mobility has followed South North and North North patterns However recent literature show the growth in North South and South South patterns of student mobility There has also been a rise in regional mobility In what is referred to in the book as intra Africa mobility the book explores and analyzes the patterns of intra Africa mobility based on seven African countries South Africa Kenya Uganda Nigeria Ghana Senegal and Egypt The editors and contributors address three central research questions Why did the students choose the country they are studying in Why did they choose the institution they are studying in What are their academic and social experiences in these countries and their respective institutions This book is the first comprehensive exploration of intra Africa student mobility in a field that traditionally centers on the Global North
