Objective

How pro-rata debts are calculated for companies in joint ratio (paid) and a ratio for business purposes debts.

Directions

After this procedure, students will be enabled to find shared liability and equity distributions.

Pro Rata Debts

Joint and tenancy is a common arrangement in which two or more individuals hold a joint debt. If they wish to share a joint debt equally, each is liable for half of the debt. However, if the individuals have different contributions to the debt, the debt is shared in proportion to their contributions. For example, if two individuals share a joint debt of $100,000, and one individual contributed $60,000 and the other contributed $40,000, the debt is shared in the ratio of 60:40, or 3:2. This means that the first individual is liable for $60,000 and the second individual is liable for $40,000.

1. Example 1: Mr. A and Mr. B are partners in a business. They have a joint debt of $100,000. Mr. A contributed $60,000 and Mr. B contributed $40,000.
