Proceedings of the 2010 Northeastern Recreation Research Symposium Clifton E. Watts,Cherie LeBlanc Fisher,2012 Proceedings of the 2010 Northeastern Recreation Research Symposium U. S. Department U.S. Department of Agriculture,2015-01-03 We conducted a self administered mail survey in September 2009 with randomly selected Oregon hunters who had purchased big game hunting licenses tags for the 2008 hunting season Survey questions explored hunting practices the meanings of and motivations for big game hunting the constraints to big game hunting participation and the effects of age years of hunting experience hunting motivations hunting meanings and hunting success on overall quality of experience The study found that although hunters gave high scores to the emotional and traditional meanings of hunting their quality of experience depended largely on hunting success In addition seeing finding big game animals was the biggest constraint for hunters in Oregon Explorations in Place Attachment Jeffrey Smith,2017-11-09 The book explores the unique contribution that geographers make to the concept of place attachment and related ideas of place identity and sense of place It presents six types of places to which people become attached and provides a global range of empirical case studies to illustrate the theoretical foundations The book reveals that the types of places to which people bond are not discrete Rather a holistic approach one that seeks to understand the interactive and reinforcing qualities between people and places is most effective in advancing our understanding of place attachment The Urban Forest David Pearlmutter,Carlo Calafapietra,Roeland Samson,Liz O'Brien,Silvija Krajter Ostoić,Giovanni Sanesi,Rocío Alonso del Amo,2017-02-27 This book focuses on urban green infrastructure the interconnected web of vegetated spaces like street trees parks and peri urban forests that provide essential ecosystem services in cities The green infrastructure approach embodies the idea that these services such as storm water runoff control pollutant filtration and amenities for outdoor recreation are just as vital for a modern city as those provided by any other type of infrastructure Ensuring that these ecosystem services are indeed delivered in an equitable and sustainable way requires knowledge of the physical attributes of trees and urban green spaces tools for coping with the complex social and cultural dynamics and an understanding of how these factors can be integrated in better governance practices By conveying the findings and recommendations of COST Action FP1204 GreenInUrbs this volume summarizes the collaborative efforts of researchers and practitioners from across Europe to address these challenges A New Research Agenda for Improvements in Quality of Life Filomena Maggino,2015-04-10 This book presents a new research agenda for improvements in Quality of Life research It includes topics such as Studying QoL in particular subpopulations and selected subgroups Disentangling the difficult task of identifying determinants of QoL Perfectionating the measurement of conceptual dimensions Defining new indicators able to measure and monitor particular social conditions and shows that these are not separated fields of studies but intersect each other and produce different outcomes which can be with difficulty classifiable consistent with the idea of the complexity of our reality The volume presents micro perspectives by taking into account the macro situation through both qualitative and quantitative approaches

Information and Communication Technologies for Sustainable Tourism Alisha Ali, Andrew J. Frew, 2013-05-07 Sustainable development is a highly topical issue and is of critical importance to tourism as the environment is of utmost importance for the continued development and prosperity of the industry There have been numerous texts written on sustainable tourism and the measures to mitigate and manage this but none which acknowledges Information and Communication Technologies ICT as a mechanism of doing so despite being an emerging area of research ICT in this context refers to innovative tools which form an integrated system of software and networked equipment that facilitates data processing information sharing communication and the ability to search and select from an existing range of products and services for an organisation s benefits Despite the symbiotic relationship which exists between ICT and sustainable tourism there has been little research which has considered how the use of such technology can be used to make sustainable tourism development a more workable reality This opportune book is the first to provide a focus on the interrelationship of these two important topics demonstrating their synergies and providing insight into a new and innovative approach to managing sustainable tourism development It considers the use of technology to reduce the negative impacts of tourism from both the demand and supply side perspectives A critical review of a range of cutting edge technologies used by tourists and businesses to assess their usefulness in managing sustainable tourism development from the macro to the micro level is also discussed It further integrates examples and practical applications to show how ICT can be an invaluable mechanism in the management of sustainable tourism development This cutting edge

Sustainable Development and Planning VIII C.A. Brebbia, S.S. Zubir, A.S. Hassan, 2017-01-30 The 8th International Conference on Sustainable

Development and Planning is part of a series of biennial conferences on the topic of sustainable regional development which began in Greece in 2003. The papers included in these proceedings report on the latest advances from scientists specialising in the range of subjects included within sustainable development and planning. Planners, environmentalists, architects, engineers, policy makers and economists have to work together in order to ensure that planning and development can meet our present needs without compromising the ability of future generations. The use of modern technologies in planning gives us new potential to monitor and prevent environmental degradation. Problems related to development and planning which affect both rural and urban areas are present in all regions of the world and accelerated urbanisation has resulted in both the deterioration of the environment and quality of life. Urban development can also intensify problems faced by rural areas such as forests, mountain regions and coastal areas which urgently require solutions in order to avoid irreversible damage. The papers in the book cover the following topics: City planning, Regional planning, Rural developments, Sustainability and the built environment, Sustainability indicators, Policies and planning, Environmental planning and management, Energy resources, Cultural heritage, Quality of life, Community planning and resilience, Sustainable solutions in emerging countries, Sustainable tourism, Learning from nature, Transportation, Social and political issues and Community planning.
