This edited volume is based on the European Law Institute's ELI project Rescue of Business in Insolvency Law. The project ran from 2013 to 2017 under the auspices of the ELI and was conducted by Bob Wessels and Stephan Madaus who were assisted by Gert Jan Boon. The study sought to design elements of a legal framework that will enable the further development of coherent and functional rules for business rescue in Europe. This includes certain statutory procedures that could better enable parties to negotiate solutions where a business becomes financially distressed. Such a framework also includes rules to determine in which procedures and under which conditions an enforceable solution can be imposed upon creditors and other stakeholders despite their lack of consent. The project had a broad scope and extended to consider frameworks that can be used by non-financial businesses out of court and in a pre-insolvency context. Part I of this book, the ELI Instrument as approved by the ELI Council and General Assembly, features 115 recommendations on a wide variety of themes affected by the rescue of financially distressed businesses, such as the legal rules for professions and courts, treatment and ranking of creditors' claims, contract, corporate and labour law, as well as laws relating to transaction avoidance. Part II consists of national reports that sketch the legal landscape in 13 States and of an Inventory Report on International Recommendations from Standard Setting Organisations, both of which provided insight for the drafting of the Instrument. This volume is designed to assist those involved in a process of law reform and those setting standards for soft law in the business rescue context.

Market Expansion and Social Dumping in Europe

Magdalena Bernaciak, 2015-06-05. The term social dumping regularly appears in public debates and in policymaking circles. However, due to its ambiguity, it is used in a manner that is convenient for individual discourse participants, thus opening the door for misconceptions and ill-grounded accusations. This book systematically examines social dumping in the context of the European integration process. It defines social dumping as the practice undertaken by self-interested market participants of undermining or evading existing social regulations with the aim of gaining a competitive advantage. It also shows how the two major EU integration projects, the creation of the Internal Market and EU enlargement to the east and to the south, have provided market actors with new incentives and opportunities to contest existing social constraints. The empirical chapters examine social dumping practices accompanying labour migration, employee posting, and cross-border investment distribution. In addition, they outline the process of formation of social standards and trace initiatives at EU and national levels that contribute to the spread of social dumping in Europe. This book will be of interest to scholars and students of employment relations, EU studies, international political economy, globalisation studies, welfare studies, social policy, and migration studies.

New Uses of Bourdieu in Film and Media Studies Guy Austin, 2016-07-01. Through his influential work on cultural capital and social mobility, the French sociologist Pierre Bourdieu has provided critical insights into the complex interactions of power, class, and culture in the modern era. Ubiquitous though Bourdieu's theories are, however, they have only intermittently been used to study some of the most important forms of cultural production today: cinema and new media. With topics ranging from film festivals and photography to constantly evolving mobile technologies this collection demonstrates the enormous relevance that Bourdieu's key concepts hold for the field of media studies deploying them as powerful tools of analysis and forging new avenues of inquiry in the process

Family-Run Universities in Japan Jeremy Broaden, Roger Goodman, 2020-07-03 Globally private universities enrol one in three of all higher education students In Japan which has the second largest higher education system in the world in terms of overall expenditure almost 80% of all university students attend private institutions According to some estimates up to 40% of these institutions are family businesses in the sense that members of a single family have substantive ownership or control over their operation

This book offers a detailed historical sociological and ethnographic analysis of this important but largely under studied category of private universities as family business. It examines how such universities in Japan have negotiated a period of major demographic decline since the 1990s, their experiments in restructuring and reform, the diverse experiences of those who worked and studied within them, and above all, their unexpected resilience. It argues that this resilience derives from a number of inbuilt strengths of family business which are often overlooked in conventional descriptions of higher education systems and in predictions regarding the capacity of universities to cope with dramatic changes in their operating environment. This book offers a new perspective on recent changes in the Japanese higher education sector and contributes to an emerging literature on private higher education and family business across the world. Corporate Governance and Investment Management Roger M. Barker, Iris H.-Y. Chiu, 2017-12-29

Shareholder engagement with publicly listed companies is often seen as a key means to monitor corporate malpractices. In this book, the authors examine the corporate governance roles of key institutional investors in UK corporate equity, including pension funds, insurance companies, collective investment funds, hedge and private equity funds, and sovereign wealth funds. They argue that institutions' corporate governance roles are an instrument ultimately shaped by private interests and market forces, as well as law and regulatory obligations, and that policy makers should not readily make assumptions regarding their effectiveness or their alignment with public interest or social good.

Business and Management Practices in South Asia Arijit Sikdar, Vijay Pereira, 2018-09-04

This book presents case studies of South Asian companies that have strategic business implications, highlighting the complex interplay of business and social dynamics in South Asia. This region is a wide agglomeration of very different countries that share somewhat common cultures and issues, and yet it is torn apart by religion and politics. There is an abundance of local entrepreneurship, but a widespread institutional void. The book investigates how local companies survive and thrive in this environment and discusses those companies that have withstood the competitive pressure of MNCs, depicting their management and business practices. In today's world, where multinationals are so omnipresent that their management and business practices are considered as the de facto recipe for success, there is a need to have an alternative view that challenges the ubiquitousness of multinational management practices. The case studies in this book focus on the business and management practices of local organizations in South Asia and thus provide that alternative viewpoint of how to achieve success in South Asia Exposing readers to a local perspective on doing business in South Asia it is a valuable resource for students and practitioners of management FinTech in Islamic Financial
