Teacher Professional Development for Improving Quality of Teaching Bert Creemers, Leonidas Kyriakides, Panayiotis Antoniou, 2012-11-05 This book makes a major contribution to knowledge and theory by drawing implications of teacher effectiveness research for the field of teacher training and professional development The first part of the book provides a critical review of research on teacher training and professional development and illustrates the limitations of the main approaches to teacher development such as the competence based and the holistic approach A dynamic perspective to policy and practice in teacher training and professional development is advocated The second part of the book provides a critical review of research on teacher effectiveness The main phases of this field of research are analysed It is pointed out that teacher factors are presented as being in opposition to one another An integrated approach in defining quality of teaching is adopted The importance of taking into account findings of studies investigating differential teacher effectiveness is argued Another significant limitation of this field of research is that the whole process of searching for teacher effectiveness factor was not able to have a significant impact upon teacher training and professional development For this reason it is advocated that teacher training and professional development should be focused on how to address grouping of specific teacher factors associated with student learning and on how to help teachers improve their teaching skills by moving from using skills associated with direct teaching only to more advanced skills concerned with new teaching approaches and differentiation of teaching The book refers to studies conducted in different countries illustrating how the proposed approach can be used by policy and practice in teacher education Specifically the book provides evidence supporting the validity of the theoretical framework upon which this approach is based Moreover experimental and longitudinal studies supporting the use of this approach for improvement purposes are presented and suggestions for further research utilising and expanding the Dynamic Approach for teacher training and professional development are provided Breaking Through to Effective Teaching Patricia Martinez-Miller, Laureen Cervone, 2007-12-14

School leaders search for effective and practical ways to live out what research tells us makes a difference in student learning Research literature is easy to embrace theoretically but it is much more difficult to turn research into compelling collective action How do we create the climate where the trusting members of a professional learning community improve the results of their practice What does it take to be the small learning community that includes students and parents as well as professional educators What will we do to harness the positive power of community to transform the learning and achievement of all students This walk through protocol provides both a process and a tool for inquiry based professional development community engagement and ultimately student self direction It starts with a school s commitment to build an inquiry model that assumes the capacity for extraordinary learning on the part of students teachers administrators and families The protocol can be employed narrowly to guide the improving practice of a couple of teachers with a passion for biology for example or more broadly Many of the improving schools highlighted in the chapters of this book chose the walk through protocol as a frame for school wide professional development that led to exceptional growth in learning and student achievement This process allows schools to create a community where all members approach learning as an inquiry and are proactive designers of their success Reach the Highest Standard in Professional Learning: Learning Communities

Teacher's Professional Development Sabine Krolak-Schwerdt, Sabine Glock, Matthias Böhmer, 2014-04-03 A central aspect of teachers professional knowledge and competence is the ability to assess students achievements adequately Giving grades and marks is one prototypical task in this context Besides giving grades assessments for school placements or tracking decisions belong to these tasks Relevant students characteristics which influence teachers assessments do not only involve academic achievement but also students responses to different task demands as well as non academic characteristics such as learning motivation or school anxiety Closely associated with the investigation of teachers assessment competences and more specifically the investigation of conditions associated with high quality of assessments is the development and evaluation of teacher training programs to improve professional competences In recent years there has been considerable progress in the domain of professional teacher training however only a very limited number of studies are dedicated to the question to what extent training programs might offer valuable approaches to improve the quality of assessments and to implement high assessment competences Another important field which is closely related to teachers competences concerns the question how teachers professional development is linked to students learning and learning outcomes In recent years the societal demand for evidence that teachers professional development will result in improved student learning outcomes is increasing This volume brings together questions on assessment training and learning in the professional development of teachers which have not been fully discussed yet The identification of these research gaps was the reason for dedicating a series of lectures given at the University of Luxembourg 2012 to the topic of professionalization of teachers in these domains Therefore this book contains contributions from outstanding international scholars in different academic disciplines to present ideas about open research questions concerning the domains of assessment training and learning in the professional development of teachers
