Civic Creativity Paul Edmondson, Ewan Fernie, 2018-04-05 New Places Shakespeare and Civic Creativity documents and analyses the different ways in which a range of innovative projects take Shakespeare out into the world beyond education and the theatre. Mixing critical reflection on the social value of Shakespeare with new creative work in different forms and idioms, the volume triumphantly shows that Shakespeare can make a real contribution to contemporary civic life. Highlights include Garrick's 1769 Shakespeare ode, its revival in 2016, and a devised performance interpretation of it; the full text of Carol Ann Duffy's A Shakespeare Masque set to music by Sally Beamish; a new Shakespearean libretto inspired by Wagner; an exploration of the civic potential of new Shakespeare opera and ballet; a fresh Shakespeare-inspired poetic liturgy including commissions by major British poets; a production of The Merchant of Venice marking the 500th anniversary of the Venetian Jewish Ghetto; and a remaking of Pericles as a response to the global migrant crisis.

Architectural Possibilities in the Work of Eisenman Michael Jasper, 2022-11-11 This book examines the central decades of Peter Eisenman's work through a formal and thematic analysis of key architectural projects and writings, revealing underlying characteristics and arguing for their productive continuity and transformative role. The book explores Eisenman's approach to architectural form generation and thinking. It does this through a thematic and formal analysis of projects and writings from the mid 1970s to the mid 1990s. Following an introductory chapter addressing the theme of potentialities, the book is organised in two parts. The first part focuses on key period writings of Eisenman, framing the close reading around a practice of resistance, the architect's approach to history as analysis, and the transformative conceptualisation of time. In the second part, the book undertakes an analysis of select projects from the 1980s and 1990s. Three formal preoccupations and conceptual orientations ground manipulations, figuration, and spatial events. This part of the book provides previously unpublished material from the Peter Eisenman fonds. The Canadian Centre for Architecture Montréal provides primary source material. A concluding chapter addresses Eisenman's teaching, its relation to his larger project, and possible legacies for educators, practitioners, scholars, and theorists.

In this ground breaking study Paul Laird examines the process and effect of orchestration in West Side Story and Gypsy two musicals that were among the most significant Broadway shows of the 1950s and remain important in the modern repertory. Drawing on extensive archival research with original manuscripts Laird provides a detailed account of the process of orchestration for these musicals and their context in the history of Broadway orchestration. He argues that the orchestration plays a vital role in the characterization and plot development in each major musical number opening a new avenue for analysis that deepens our understanding of the musical as an art form. The orchestration of the score in Broadway musicals deeply shapes their final soundscapes but only recently has it begun to receive real attention. Linked by a shared orchestrator in other ways West Side Story and Gypsy offer a study in contrasts. Breaking down how the two composers Leonard Bernstein and Jules Styne collaborated with orchestrators Sid Ramin, Irwin Kostal and Robert Ginzler, Laird's study enables us to better understand both of these two iconic shows and the importance of orchestration within musical theatre in general.
