Patent Settlements in the Pharmaceutical Industry under US Antitrust and EU Competition Law Amalia Athanasiadou, 2018-08-14 Reverse payment settlements or pay for delay agreements between originators and generic drug manufacturers create heated debates regarding the balance between competition and intellectual property law. These settlements touch upon sensitive issues such as timely generic entry and access to affordable pharmaceuticals and also the need to preserve innovation incentives for originators and to strengthen the pipeline of life saving pharmaceuticals. This book is one of the first to critically and comparatively analyse how such patent settlements and various other strategies employed by the pharmaceutical industry are scrutinised by both United States US and European courts and enforcement authorities and to discuss the applicable legal tests and the main criteria used for their assessment. The book's ultimate objective is to provide guidance to the pharmaceutical industry regarding the types of patent settlements strategies and conduct which may be problematic from US antitrust and European Union EU competition law perspectives and to assist practitioners in structuring settlements which are both efficient and compliant. To this end, an exhaustive legal analysis of some of the most controversial issues regarding pharmaceutical patent settlements is provided, including the lengthy split among US Circuit Courts on the issue of pay for delay settlements, its resolution by the US Supreme Court in FTC v Actavis and subsequent jurisprudence, the decision of Lundbeck v Commission by the European General Court and the Servier decision of the European Commission, the Roche Novartis decision of the European Court of Justice and the most important decisions by National Competition Authorities on pharma patent settlements in the EU, an overview of other types of strategies such as product hopping and product reformulations, no authorised generic commitments, problematic side deals, mechanisms affecting generic substitution, the rejection of the scope of the patent test in both the US and the EU and the balancing of patent law and antitrust law considerations in the prevailing applicable tests, the benefits of settlements and the main criteria for assessing their legitimacy under US antitrust and EU competition law. The analysis provides concrete examples of both illegitimate and legitimate settlements and strategies, emphasising on conduct that falls within a grey zone and on the circumstances and criteria under which such conduct could be deemed problematic from an antitrust perspective. This book will serve as a valuable guide for pharmaceutical companies wishing to minimise the risk of engaging in conduct that could potentially infringe US antitrust and EU competition law. It further aims to save courts and enforcement agencies and also practitioners and academics considerable time and resources by providing an exhaustive analysis of the relevant caselaw with the ultimate goal to increase legal certainty on the most controversial aspects of patent settlements in the pharmaceutical industry.

Big Data and Competition Law Alptekin Koksall, 2023-11-13 Recent studies on competition law and digital markets reveal that accumulating personal information through data collection and acquisition methods benefits consumers considerably Free of charge fast and personalised services and products are offered to consumers online Collected data is now an indispensable part of online businesses to the point that a new economy a data driven sector has emerged Many markets such as the social network search engine online advertising and e commerce are regarded as data driven markets in which the utilisation of Big Data is a requisite for the success of operations However the accumulation and use of data brings competition law concerns as they contribute to market power in the online world resulting in a few technology giants gaining unprecedented market power due to the Big Data accumulation indirect network effects and the creation of online ecosystems As technology giants have billions of consumers worldwide data driven markets are truly global In these data driven markets technology giants abuse their dominant positions but existing competition law tools seem ineffective in addressing market power and assessing abusive behaviour related to Big Data This book argues that a novel approach to the data driven sector must be developed through the application of competition law rules to address this It argues that current and potential conflicts can be mitigated by extending the competition law assessment beyond the current competition law tools to offer a modernised and unified approach to the Big Data related competition issues Promoting new legal tests for addressing the market power of technology giants and assessing abusive behaviour in data driven markets this book advocates for cooperation between competition and data protection authorities It will be of interest to students academics and practitioners with an interest in competition law and data protection

Exchange Rate, Credit Constraints and China's International Trade Miaojie Yu, 2021-01-05 This book by one of China's leading economists explores the past and present of the RMB the people's currency as it is poised to compete with the dollar as the international reserve currency Exchange rate movement and its pass through to changes in domestic prices have been topics of wide concern among economists However relatively few studies have empirically investigated the relationship between exchange rate movements and China's international trade. This book fills this gap using the general equilibrium theory of the western economic science norm systems integrating the leading heterogeneous firm theory of international trade attempting to set up a theoretical structural model for further prediction and applying the data from sample cases to examine the structural model. This book will be of interest to economists, financiers and China watchers.

The Beginnings of Behavioral Economics Roger Frantz, 2019-10-05. The Beginnings of Behavioral Economics. Katona Simon and Leibenstein's X Efficiency Theory explores the mid 20th century roots of behavioral economics placing the origin of this now dominant approach to economic theory many years before the groundbreaking 1979 work on prospect theory by Daniel Kahneman and Amos Tversky. It discusses the work of Harvey Leibenstein, Herbert Simon, George Katona and Frederick Hayek reintroducing their contributions as founding pillars of the behavioral approach. It concentrates on the work of Leibenstein reviewing his nuanced introduction of X efficiency theory. Building from these foundations the work explores the body of empirical research on market power and firm behavior XE relationship. This book is a tremendous resource for graduate students and early career researchers in behavioral economics, experimental economics, organizational economics, social and organizational psychology, labor market economics and public policy. Reviews the powerful but neglected contributions of mid 20th century scholars like Leibenstein and Katona in building the roots of behavioral economic theory. Amalgamates and reviews 50 years of empirical research and over 200 empirical papers on X efficiency theory. Establishes how X efficiency can aid modern behavioral economics in further developing firm theory and understanding efficiency wages.

Governance and Sustainability Taewoo Roh, Minwoo Lee, Byung Il Park, 2022-11-28 Coherence between Data Protection and Competition Law in Digital Markets Klaudia Majcher, 2023-10-09 In digital markets data protection and competition law affect each other in diverse and intricate ways Their entanglement has triggered a global debate on how these two areas of law should interact to effectively address new harms and ensure that the digital economy flourishes Coherence between Data Protection and Competition Law in Digital Markets offers a blueprint for bridging the disconnect between data protection and competition law and ensuring a coherent approach towards their enforcement in digital markets Specifically this book focuses on the evolution of data protection and competition law their underlying rationale their key features and common objectives and provides a series of examples to demonstrate how the same empirical phenomena in digital markets pose a common challenge to protecting personal data and promoting market competitiveness A panoply of theoretical and empirical commonalities between these two fields of law as this volume shows are barely mirrored in the legal enforcement policy and institutional approaches in the EU and beyond where the silo approach continues to prevail The ideas that Majcher puts forward for a more synergetic integration of data protection and competition law are anchored in the concept of sectional coherence This new coherence centred paradigm reimagines the interpretation and enforcement of data protection and competition law as mutually cognizant and reciprocal allowing readers to explore in an innovative way the interface between these legal fields and identify positive interactions instead of merely addressing inconsistencies and tensions This book reflects on the conceptual practical institutional and constitutional implications of the transition towards coherence and the relevance of its findings for other jurisdictions
