Ageing in Place in Urban Environments Tine Buffel, Chris Phillipson, 2023-07-13 Ageing in Place in Urban Environments considers together two major trends influencing economic and social life population ageing on the one side and urbanisation on the other Both have been identified as dominant demographic trends of the twenty first century Cities are where the majority of people of all ages now live and where they will spend their old age Nevertheless cities are typically imagined and structured with a younger working age population in mind while older people are rarely incorporated into the mainstream of thinking and planning around urban environments Cities can contribute to vulnerability arising from high levels of population turnover environmental problems gentrification and reduced availability of affordable housing However they can also provide innovative forms of support and services essential to promoting the quality of life of older people Policies in Europe have emphasised the role of the local environment in promoting ageing in place a term used to describe the goal of helping people to remain in their own homes and communities for as long as they wish However while this has been the dominant approach the places in which older people are ageing have often proved to be challenging environments The book explores the forces behind these developments and how older people have responded Drawing upon approaches from social gerontology urban studies geography and sociology this book will be essential reading for researchers policymakers and practitioners searching for innovative ways to improve the lives of older people living in urban environments The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

The New Neighborhood Senior Center Joyce Weil, 2014-11-03 In 2011 seven thousand American baby boomers those born between 1946 and 1964 turned sixty five daily As this largest U S generation ages cities municipalities and governments at every level must grapple with the allocation of resources and funding for maintaining the quality of life health and standard of living for an aging population In The New Neighborhood Senior Center Joyce Weil uses in depth ethnographic methods to examine a working class senior center in Queens New York She explores the ways in which social structure directly affects the lives of older Americans and traces the role of political social and economic institutions and neighborhood processes in the decision to close such centers throughout the city of New York Many policy makers and gerontologists advocate a concept of aging in place whereby the communities in which these older residents live provide access to resources that foster and maintain their independence But all aging in place is not equal and the success of such efforts depends heavily upon the social class and availability of resources in any given community Senior centers expanded in part by funding from federal programs in the 1970s were designed as focal points in the provision of community based services However for the first wave of boomers the role of these centers has come to be questioned Declining government support has led to the closings of many centers even as the remaining centers are beginning to rebrand to attract the boomer generation However The New Neighborhood Senior Center demonstrates the need to balance what the boomers want from centers with the needs of frailer or more vulnerable elders who rely on the services of senior centers on a daily basis Weil challenges readers to consider what changes in social policies are needed to support or supplement senior centers and the functions they serve

Aging, Society and the Life Course Leslie A. Morgan, 2007 As our aging population grows ever larger it is increasingly important to understand how adults age and what we can do to provide up to date care to ensure their well being as an integral part of society Leslie Morgan and Suzanne Kunkel understand that this phenomenon is about much more than just the physical or biological aspects of growing older and have put together a comprehensive text on the impact of society and sociology on the aging process Use this text to explore the diversity of the aging population and dispel the major stereotypes surrounding the elderly Learn about aging through all the layers of social context from family life to politics and economics And through this approach come to see how aging is more than just an individual process it is a process that effects the direction of our society as a whole For the Student Web sites of interest and key terms defined at the end of each chapter Real life stories and essays on love sex music medicine and crime For the Professor Assignment ready reading in a One Chapter a Week format Questions for discussion and review at each chapter end Applying Theory sections place the lesson of each chapter in a clear real world setting Instructor s Guide Now Available An Instructor s Manual for this textbook is available for those professors who have adopted Aging Society and the Life Course Third Edition and can verify a bookstore order of 7 or more copies Please email our Marketing Department at marketing.springerpub.com if you have adopted this text as you will need a password to download the guide Please provide the name and telephone number of the bookstore that ordered the textbooks A print version of the Instructor s Manual is also available

Creative Ageing Cities Keng Hua Chong, Mihye Cho, 2018-01-29 Ageing population and rapid urbanisation are the two major demographic shifts in today s world Architectural designs and urban policies have to deal with issues of an ever larger elderly population living in the cities especially in old urban neighbourhoods while also taking into consideration the evolving lifestyles and wellbeing of the diverse elderly demographic Being able to continue living in these existing urban neighbourhoods would thus require necessary interventions both to adapt the changing needs of the ageing population and to improve the deteriorating environment for better liveability Creative Ageing Cities discusses the participation and contribution of the ageing population as a positive and creative force towards urban design and place making particularly in high density urban contexts as observed in a collection of empirical cases found in rapidly ageing Asian cities This book is the first to bring together multidisciplinary scholastic research on ageing and urban issues from across top six ageing cities in Asia Singapore Seoul Tokyo Taipei Hong Kong and Shanghai Through these case studies this book gives a good overview of diverse challenges and opportunities in the various Asian urban contexts and offers a new perspective of an ageing and urban design framework that emphasises multi stakeholder collaboration inter generational relations and the collective wisdom of older people as a source of creativity Creating Aging-Friendly Communities Andrew Scharlach, Amanda Lehning, 2015-11-16 Creating Aging Friendly Communities examines the need to redesign America s communities to respond to our aging society What differentiates it from other books is its breadth of focus evidence based consideration of key infrastructure characteristics and examination of the strengths and limitations of promising approaches for fostering aging friendly communities Aging, Society, and the Life Course, Fifth Edition Leslie A. Morgan, PhD, Suzanne Kunkel, 2015-07-20 Print CourseSmart Living Through Loss Nancy R. Hooyman, Betty J. Kramer, Sara Sanders, 2021-08-31 Living Through Loss provides a foundational identification of the many ways in which people experience loss over the life course from childhood to old age It examines the interventions most effective at each phase of life combining theory sound clinical practice and empirical research with insights emerging from powerful accounts of personal experience The authors emphasize that loss and grief are universal yet highly individualized Loss comes in many forms and can include not only a loved one s death but also divorce adoption living with chronic illness caregiving retirement and relocation or being abused assaulted or otherwise traumatized They approach the topic from the perspective of the resilience model which acknowledges people s capacity to find meaning in their losses and integrate grief into their lives The book explores the varying roles of age race culture sexual orientation gender and spirituality in responses to loss Presenting a variety of models approaches and resources Living Through Loss offers invaluable lessons that can be applied in any practice setting by a wide range of human service and health care professionals This second edition features new and expanded content on diversity and trauma including discussions of gun violence police brutality suicide and an added focus on systemic racism Handbook of Research on Elderly Entrepreneurship Adnane Maâlaoui, 2019-04-26 This handbook introduces readers to the concept of elderly entrepreneurship and analyzes key issues concerning individuals and institutions In addition it presents theoretical and empirical studies exploring the reasons why elderly persons choose to pursue entrepreneurship despite their advanced age To investigate this comparatively new entrepreneurial phenomenon the contributors address psychological sociological and gerontological aspects and share unique interdisciplinary insights The book s chapters are methodologically diverse and the scale of analysis ranges from individual cases to country level patterns At a time when the world's major economies are facing a demographic challenge due to ageing populations elderly entrepreneurship may provide new economic opportunities and motivate more inclusive policymaking
