Eadie, 2009-05-15 The discipline of communication has grown in popularity from the time professors of journalism and speech decided in the mid 1960s that the term communication was an excellent general descriptor for the theory and research that each group aspired to create Over time the two groups grew closer and recognized significant overlap in their theoretical and research interests but there were also differences in their traditions that kept them apart While both groups agreed that communication is a practical discipline journalism professors focused a great deal of their attention on the education of media professionals Speech professors on the other hand often were more oriented to the liberal arts and valued the fact that communication could be approached from a variety of traditions including the arts humanities social sciences and even the sciences A key term in 21st Century communication however is convergence Not only are media and technology converging with each other to produce new means of communicating but individuals are increasingly using both new and existing communication tools to create new forms of communication This convergence forces the various camps within the communication discipline to draw upon each other's theories and research methods to keep up with explaining the rapidly changing communication environment This convergence of ideas and theories provides a space to challenge conventional ways of thinking about the communication discipline and that's the goal of the SAGE 21st Century Reference Series volumes on Communication General Editor William F Eadie has sought to honor the diversity of the study of communication but also integrate that diversity into a coherent form dividing communication study into four basic properties 1 processes 2 forms and types of communication 3 characteristics to consider in creating messages and 4 relationships between communicators Via 100 chapters this 2 volume set available in both print and electronic formats highlights the most important topics issues questions and debates any student obtaining a degree in the field of communication ought to have mastered for effectiveness in the 21st Century The purpose is to provide undergraduate majors with an authoritative reference source that will serve their research needs going forward in this exciting field with more detailed information than encyclopedia entries but not as much jargon detail or density as a journal article or a research handbook chapter Comprehensive coverage captures all the major themes and subfields within communication For instance Volume 1 themes include the discipline of communication approaches to the study of communication key processes of communication forms and types of communication key characteristics of messages key communication relationships factors affecting communication and challenges and opportunities for communication Themes in Volume 2 are media as communication communication as a profession journalism public relations advertising and media management Authoritative content is provided by a stellar casts of authors who bring diverse approaches diverse styles and different points of view Curricular driven emphasis provides students with initial footholds on topics of interest in researching for term papers in preparing for GREs in consulting to determine directions to take in pursuing a senior thesis graduate degree career etc Uniform chapter structures make it easy for students to locate key information with a more or less common chapter format of Introduction Theory Methods Applications Comparisons Future Directions Summary Bibliography Suggestions for Further Reading and Cross References Availability in print and electronic formats provides students with convenient easy access      The Art of Communication Randy Fujishin,2022-07-22 This dynamic skills based introduction to personal communication provides students with the keys to improving their personal academic and professional lives through the power of human interaction and expression The fourth edition includes new content on virtual communication scenarios inclusive language conflict resolution and leadership development With a distinctively encouraging and conversational approach Fujishin explains the basic communication skills necessary for numerous contexts including public speaking small group interpersonal intercultural leadership interviewing and technology based communication

Public Speaking Basics Michael A. Griffin,2009 Public Speaking Basics provides a semester s worth of information and exercises to help college students master public speaking There is an emphasis on creating good thesis sentences and on using effective forms of outlining A sample speech is provided with each of the six different speaking assignments BOOK JACKET      Recontextualized Knowledge Olaf Kramer,Markus Gottschling,2020-11-23 Recontextualized Knowledge aims to analyze the communicative situations involved in the popularization of scientific knowledge their settings audiences and the adaptive process of recontextualization in science communication Taking an interdisciplinary approach this publication brings together essays from rhetoric linguistics and psychology as well as political and education sciences to serve as an in depth exploration of today s communicative situations in science communication      Speaking the Truth in Love Daniel R. Berger,2007-01-01 Approaching public communication from a liberal arts point of view Speaking the Truth in Love provides a distinctly Christian perspective of rhetoric Written and oral rhetoric are interwoven throughout the text Two foundational ideas control the majority of the text The first is from Plato s Phaedrus as stated by Paul in Ephesians 4 15 speaking the truth in love The second is from the Apostle Peter in 1 Peter 4 11 if anyone speaks he should do it as one speaking the very words of God The spiritual responsibility of communicating truth in accordance with the nature of God especially the virtue of love is an awesome privilege and opportunity Sound content spoken or written eloquently with charisma will enable words to have a maximum impact The text is designed to be a culminating learning experience for undergraduate communication programs or as an introductory text for graduate programs involving public communication Beginning with a philosophy of language meaning and interaction argument is built against secular deconstructive thought where everyone has a different truth based on language Alongside philosophy we explore ethics and theology from an evangelical perspective Following this a brief history outlines rhetorical thought from pre testament classics to today Based upon these ideas we take a closer look at communication theory as it relates to public communication Finally the text addresses the practice of both written and oral communication

Communication in Organizations Dave Tofanelli, 2012-03-30 The future of business communications is a fully interconnected world where every employee will access create and use content from anywhere At the same time companies want to keep their employees connected anytime or anywhere Employees are no longer tied to their desktops and they want the same communications options on the road or from home that they have in the office Face to face communication is quickly becoming a lost art in this age of e mail texting and voicemail But ultimately when it comes to engaging an audience or making a compelling sales presentation business is still driven by personal communication High technology sets the stage but speaking face to face seals the deal Lack of communicative ability plagues many corporations and the professionals that rise to the top are overwhelming those that develop communication approaches that achieve results But communicating with influence takes work and requires constant attention This text will assist you in understanding types of communication explain how successful communication takes place and suggest ways of improving communication
