Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet on the body composition and physical performance of 10 male, sedentary, college students. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and a diet group. The diet group was instructed to consume a diet that was 1000 kcal below their estimated maintenance level. The control group was instructed to consume a diet that was at their estimated maintenance level. The diet group lost significantly more weight and body fat than the control group. The diet group also showed a significant improvement in physical performance compared to the control group. The results of this study suggest that a 10-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet can lead to significant improvements in body composition and physical performance in sedentary college students.
