100. Explain the main components of a business to consumer online marketing system. How does Search-engine optimization (SEO), advertising and business relationship marketing?
101. The "Internet" is often described as a marketplace. In contrast, what practices describe the Internet as a not marketplace context, and why? (please bring examples of the Internet as a not market).
102. If only not market-oriented by other organizations is a critical business practice that influences consumers in a different, tangible thing or communication provided by the company which provides a differentiated perspective on value or quality or benefit, it must respond to all those, providing the most value to consumers. Tangible thing or communication, otherwise, it must be a different communication, the company that communicates should not repeat what the company already provides. It is important to follow the Internet (market) thing or communication in business.
