Authors: Mohamed Fezari and Ali AL-Dahood

The engineering field is not typically known for its literary style or its compelling prose, in large measure because engineering is better known as an applied field with experiment and measurements than a theoretical one. But engineering is a discipline with an academic component, and research is an essential element of its academic aspect. In short, if you're a student in an engineering program, you need to be able to write a great research paper just as much as you need to be able to solve complex mathematical problems. Separating the research process from the writing process will help you to develop stronger ideas and prepare for the writing process, making the actual writing of your paper that much faster and more efficient.
- Use only the most current research: While there are some cases where historical articles can be important for understanding the development of an idea, you will want to use current research to support your analysis. Current research keeps you abreast of the latest information in your field. This is especially important because of the changing nature of engineering. New information and new approaches can render older ways of doing things obsolete. You want to ensure that your paper is the
