

Graduation Speech

Good afternoon, dear faculty, staff, family, friends, and graduates. It is an honor to be speaking with you here today. Graduates of the class of 2012, CONGRATULATIONS!!!

While I was very honored to be invited to be the graduate speaker at the 2012 International Studies graduation ceremony, I admit that writing this speech was even harder than writing my thesis. And believe me, I would have never imagined that there would be anything harder than that. The hard part about it is that I was told that my graduation speech had to make you laugh first, then cry, and then inspire you. And it had to be short... So as you can see, that's not a very easy task to accomplish. But I'll try.

As I was thinking about this speech and reflecting on my experiences here at the Department of International Studies as a graduate student, I came up with a perfect analogy for my and my fellow

A Living Classroom Ronald W. Poplau, 2018-12-28. Would you like your students to become community leaders and activists? This book will help you empower your students to change their attitudes and behaviors to do more good. This book's theme is the necessity of creativity as well as community service in classrooms everyday. Poplau includes numerous ideas and examples as well as opportunities to create a meaningful living classroom. Perpetual Children Jonathyne Briggs, 2024-12-03. Perpetual Children is a narrative history of debates over the definition and appropriate treatment of autism in France since 1950, noting the French divergence from psychological norms in the rest of the world. Examining the works of psychoanalysts, the activities of parents, associations, and the efforts of autistic self-advocates, the book argues that the consistent framing of autism as a form of childhood psychosis marginalized autists and emphasized the voices of parents and professionals. This framing also justified the continued use of psychoanalysis as an intervention due to the placement of autism within the family dynamic. Even as research in the United States pointed to biological and neurological conceptions of autism, the French continued to support a psychogenic origin for the disorder, impacting state policy and medical norms for decades. This position energized conflict between professionals and parents concerning expertise, leading to political and legal changes at the end of the twentieth century. By the twenty-first century, French autists entered the debate to transform its parameters and assert their own position as experts on autism, reconceiving the disorder outside of childhood to a limited degree. Perpetual Children reveals the international dimension of the story of autism and how the French context provides a different perspective on its history.

The Primary Education of Bilingual Indigenous Children on the Talamanca Bribri Reservation in Limón Province of Costa Rica Elsa Potter, 1998. Delinquency in Society Robert M. Regoli, John D. Hewitt, Matt DeLisi, 2021-02-19. Delinquency in Society, Eleventh Edition, provides in-depth research-oriented coverage of the essential delinquency topics and theories, including juvenile delinquency, criminal behavior, and status-offending youths. With high-quality photos, images, and learning features throughout, the updated Eleventh Edition continues to showcase the most current research and practice to prevent, treat, and respond to juvenile delinquency in an approachable design and clear writing style. The Eleventh Edition features unparalleled historical coverage of criminological theory based on over 100 years of cumulative teaching and research experience by the authors. New sections on hot topics, including health, criminology, vaping, and its association with delinquency, adverse childhood experiences, the expansion of NIBRS in measuring delinquency, and more timely discussions help to make the best-selling Delinquency in Society the clear choice for delinquency courses.

Early Childhood Education for Muslim Children Hasina Banu Ebrahim, 2016-12-08. Early Childhood Education for

Muslim Children foregrounds the marginalised perspective of Muslim children aged three to five and examines how they are cared for and educated in centre based provision in two provinces in post apartheid South Africa Both theological and social science perspectives are carefully interwoven to make sense of the construction of service provision for Muslims as a minority group in a secular democracy This book uses a qualitative reflexive approach to amplify the voices of mothers managers and teachers as the community of agents who shape priorities for young children in the context of a rapidly transforming society The research demonstrates that the quest to establish an appropriate care network and a sound educative environment for Muslim children is riddled with complexities struggles and tensions In the light of changes in the home based network for early education centre based provision has become an important infrastructure for Muslim communities seeking one stop academic and Islamic education The internal struggles encountered in this form of provision include inequities in access struggles to package an appropriate curriculum and dealing with nurturance specific to the faith and for cultural formations supportive of citizenship This book calls for critical engagement with issues of religious education in early childhood social cohesion formal systematic teacher education for Muslim teachers curriculum development and parental support It will contribute not only to the development of early education from an Islamic perspective but will also demonstrate how to expand discourses and practices to deal with diversity and faith development in early years As such it will appeal to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of early childhood education religious studies race and ethnic studies and childhood studies
