School Board,1899 Report of the Board of Education of the State of Connecticut ; Submitted to the Governor, Together with the Report of the Secretary of the Board Connecticut. State Board of Education,1908 The Agricultural Education Magazine ,1956 Chemawa Indian Boarding School Sonciray Bonnell,1997-10 This study presents interviews with American Indian Alaska Native alumni who received some or all of their elementary and high school education at the Chemawa Indian Boarding School in Salem Oregon between 1917 and 1985 A brief summary of Indian history in particular Indian education is presented as the context for many of the changes that occurred at Chemawa during its first one hundred years The purpose of this study is to examine Chemawa alumni recollections of Chemawa within an imposed educational system My research process included library and archival research academic classes and personal interviews I interviewed alumni who had attended Chemawa between 1917 and 1985 Themes such as academics vocational training social life and general impressions of Chemawa are categorized in the different eras and serve as the body of the thesis Despite negative stereotypes of federal Indian boarding schools the majority of Chemawa alumni interviewed for this thesis hold Chemawa in high regard For many students Chemawa was an alternative to an orphanage a respite from a dysfunctional family situation an opportunity to gain an education and or vocational skills or an opportunity to be with other Indians Across generations at least half of the students considered Chemawa s academic program inadequate over half of the students interviewed found the vocational training when it was available to be very useful Though most students acknowledge the downfalls of Chemawa most alumni interviewed tended to overlook the negative and promote the positive Alumni were able to view Chemawa in a positive light because students molded their boarding school experiences to fit their needs Students created their own families friends community school and resisted the institutional suppression of Indian boarding schools As young people many adapted their situation to suit their needs regardless of any negative experiences they might have encountered at Chemawa
