8. Kennedy, a parent for a child pursuant to Tennessee's adoption statute, had never adopted her son through legal means. She was, however, a biological mother who had been married to the child's father and had custody of the child for most of his life. A 1976 ruling from the Tennessee Supreme Court permitted the adoption of a child by a parent who, although not a legal parent, had acted in the place of a parent for the child for a substantial period of time.

8. Analysis: Problem: The following table shows a distribution of data from the survey regarding the "most important" factor in choosing a new car. The data is presented in a table with 4 rows and 4 columns. The first row represents the "most important" factor, and the subsequent rows represent the "second most important" factor. The columns represent the "make" of the car. The data is as follows:
