Jay Nelson, 2011-07-20 Once each summer a morning breaks that tastes of fall Despite a vault of unrelieved blue that promises equally unrelieved heat by late afternoon some patch of Canadian tundra has airmailed southward a precursor of the coming season full of sensory contradictions like a good red wine Tomorrow the Gulf will reassert itself drowning the message from the cooling North but for one morning the promise hangs there summoning ragged maddening memory snippets and the bewilderment appropriate to falsely anticipating what is irretrievably past Something about the harkening wind stitches a loop in time calling forth a history hindsight annually edits as the forces that inform the authorship of memories work their disclosures and distortions When fall really arrives it will bring to our semitropical savannah if not a genuine chill at least welcome relief from summer's stunning heat and the ordinary experiences of three months time school clothes to buy schedules to keep leaves to rake all burdened with the wet colorless stretches National Geographic never features It will bring too the evidence that local heroes and sweethearts belong to a new generation and that what once seemed unforgettable has been forgotten For these young people Stanley Roger Simmons is a plaque on the wall at the high school Jefferson Sands Mc Callister a face on a football trading card Charles Pendleton Drennan Jr a young trial lawyer just beginning to make a name for himself Few of them ever heard of Mark Jansen or Candy Atchison If they are unusually curious they may be able to attach faces to these names by poring over old newspaper clippings and some of the memorabilia in the school library but they can do no more The faces and the names lie on the pages and the story they tell is strange and sad but sooner or later the young readers say to themselves that it was a long time ago when things were really weird and they go about the human business of cropping their own memories from the profusion of detail that is everyday life Someday perhaps even now some few who by inclination or training tune themselves to the contrapuntal melody of the world will recognize a summer morning as a false autumn and taste its once and future character But that is all Only for me and for a few others whose victories and triumphs whose clumsy acts and blind omissions appear on or just behind those pages does that bright annual harbinger make the dead walk and fists clench helpless again as if that fall lived in time as truly as the crisp taste of its revenant rests a while in the backs of our throats before the rest of summer bums it gone again One such day arrived in August 1970 when I was sitting at my desk in the room I was to occupy my senior year in college I had returned to school early by special permission to get a head start on my honors thesis Before that day was done I had put away forever my notes for that project and begun another on which I wrote steadily for most of the year The result of those labors was the document that follows In the end my thesis advisor accepted it in lieu of my original project a gesture for which I was deeply grateful as it enabled me to graduate with my class He seemed to understand my need to write it and write it then not later In a sense he said I had delivered what I promised a work of history written from original sources And he invited me to consider the writer s dilemma shared by all who try to capture the truth when the sources are fresh so are the passions that warp judgment when time brings perspective the materials have frozen into shapes that like photographs show only one side and hoard their secrets always Another such day arrived today and as I have done so many times before I took the document from my drawer again and began to read Cheerleader!: An American Icon Natalie Guice practice examining the intersectionality between leadership and a range of social categories and challenging notions of leadership as a singular construct Compelling research narratives reveal educational leadership practice as nuanced temporal site specific and prefigured by traditions and cultural understandings that reach beyond a simplification of educational leadership as understood through unitary lenses of race gender or ethnicity This book is essential reading for academics and students of educational leadership and management as well as administrators

Culturally Affirming Literacy Practices for Urban Elementary Students Lakia M. Scott, Barbara Purdum-Cassidy, 2016-08-17 The nation's demographic of public schools are more ethnically racially and linguistically diverse than ever before Strauss 2014 However there are still educational policies and practices that call to question whether traditionally marginalized students receive an equitable education This is demonstrated in national achievement trends which highlight disproportionality ratings among minoritized student groups Also when examining school discipline policies expulsion ratings special education services and school choice movements all seem to handicap educational opportunity for low income Black and Brown students As American schools become more and more diverse it is imperative that the literacy practices used to teach young students of color reflect the nation's changing demographic This book provides practical insights guided by conceptual and contextual knowledge in understanding how to teach urban African American and Hispanic Latino students by discussing issues associated with critical pedagogies literacy and culturally appropriate instructional strategies that have demonstrated success for traditionally marginalized student populations This book examines culturally affirming literacy practices from three main components 1 scholarship 2 the field of practice and 3 teacher education models Each of these three are significant in understanding how to teach minoritized populations As such chapters have been organized into three main sections that address scholarship and research trends in the field and implications for teacher education models all in order to advance the literacy achievement of African American and Hispanic Latino students
