Purposes: This section describes the purpose(s) of the analysis. For example, a needs assessment might be done to detect training or education needs that aren't being met by existing programs. Or a needs assessment might be done to confirm the existence of needs or clarify the nature of needs that others have perceived. A job or task analysis might be undertaken to collect information directly related to the nature of the interactive multimedia product under development.

Limitations: This section spells out any limitations to the interpretation and generalization of the analysis. It should also describe threats to the reliability and validity of the instruments (e.g., questionnaires, interview protocols, or focus group protocols) used in the analysis.

Questions: A key element of an effective analysis is careful specification of the questions to be addressed by the analysis methods. The clearer and more detailed these questions are, the more likely that you will be able to provide useful answers to them. It is usually a good idea to collect needs assessment data in several ways from several sources, especially in projects that are quite costly.

System Analysis and Modelling in Air Transport Milan Janić, 2021-01-04. This book presents a comprehensive analysis and modelling of demand, capacity, quality of services, economics and sustainability of the air transport system and its main components: airports, airlines and ATC/ATM (Air Traffic Control/Management). Airports consist of the airside and landside area characterized by their capacities for handling demand such as aircraft, air passengers and air freight cargo shipments. Regarding spatial configuration, airlines generally operate hub and spoke, conventional or legacy airlines and point to point. LCCs (Low Cost Carriers) air route networks. Their fleets, consisting of different aircraft types, provide transport capacity for serving demand including air passengers and freight cargo shipments. The ATC/ATM includes the controlled airspace, traffic management and control facilities and equipment on the ground, space and on board aircraft and the ATC Controllers. They all provide capacity to handle demand consisting of the flights between origin and destination airports carried out by airline aircraft. The outcome from the interrelationships between demand and capacity at these components materializes as the quality of services. At airports and airlines, this is generally expressed by congestion and delays of aircraft, air passengers and freight cargo shipments. At ATC/ATM, this is expressed by delays, horizontal and vertical in efficiency and safety of flights. Economics of each component relate to its revenues, costs and profits from handling demand, i.e. providing services of given quality. The sustainability of air transport system has become an increasingly important issue for many internal and external actors/stakeholders involved to deal with. This has implied increasing the system's overall social/economic effects/benefits while reducing or maintaining constant impacts/costs on the environment and society at both global and regional/local scale under conditions of continuous medium to long term growth.
