Consists of reprints of papers published by the Institute's staff Insights Into the Role of Microorganisms on Food Quality and Food Safety Jinxuan Cao, Hongshun Yang, Wei Zhao, Changyu Zhou, Zhihong Sun, 2023-09-05 The dynamics of growth survival and biochemical activity of microorganisms in the food matrix are the result of stress reactions in response to the changes in the physical and chemical conditions in the food microenvironment. The microorganisms colonize the food matrix and grow into spatial heterogeneity with in situ cell to cell ecological interactions which often happen during food processing and preservation. Ecological approaches to studying the evolution of microbial flora would be beneficial and recommended for better comprehending the microbiological processes involved in food processing ripening and preservation improving microbiological safety and evaluating the effective compositions of the microbial populations in developing the food quality including appearance flavor and nutrients. This topic addresses the mechanisms of microorganisms on the formation and development of the food matrix's appearance flavor and nutrients as well as strategies for preventing and reducing microorganism contamination throughout the processing and preservation of the food matrix. Thus we are concerning several key problems: How can we understand microorganism roles in improving food safety or removal of toxic compounds? What are the key factors that affect the growth and metabolism of microorganisms during the processing and preservation? What are the mechanisms for inducing the changes in nutritional value and organoleptic quality of the food matrix by microorganisms? Gums and Stabilisers for the Food Industry 11 Peter A.
