known and inexorable phenomenon With the end of the Cold War the opening of the Chinese economy and the ascendancy of digital technology the prospect of a unified flow of goods and services and of people and ideas seemed unstoppable Political theorists such as Francis Fukuyama proclaimed that we had reached the end of history Yes there were pockets of resistance and reaction but these we were told would be swept away in a relentless tide of free markets and global integration that would bring Hollywood digital finance and fast food to all Religious fundamentalism nationalism and traditional sexual identities would melt away before the forces of modernity and empire A relentless technocratic rationality would sweep all in its wake bringing a neoliberal utopia of free markets free speech and increasing productivity Nonetheless as we have begun to experience the backlash against a global world founded on digital fungibility the perils of appeals to nationalism identity and authenticity have become only too apparent The collapse of Soviet Communism left an ideological vacuum that offered no recognized place from which to oppose global capitalism What is the alternative The anxieties and resentments produced by this new world order among those left behind are often manifested in assertions of xenophobia and particularity This is what it supposedly means to be really American truly Muslim properly Chinese The other is coming to take what is ours and we must defend ourselves Digitalizing the Global Text is a collection of essays by an international group of scholars situated squarely at this nexus of forces Together these writers examine how literature culture and philosophy in the global and digital age both enable the creation of these simultaneously utopian and dystopian worlds and offer a resistance to them A joint publication from the University of South Carolina Press and the National Taiwan University Press Experimental Life Writing Today Vanessa Guignery, Wojciech Drag, 2025-10-02 This comprehensive volume offers compelling critical essays surveying the myriad forms of innovation in contemporary Anglophone life writing Experimental Life Writing Today provides a historical and critical context for examining avant garde tendencies in biography and autobiography and outlines the poetics of experimental life writing The volume is divided into two parts The first is devoted to a selection of experimental genres of life writing autofiction biofiction paramemoir autotheory graphic memoir photo memoir eco memoir and the lyric essay Part Two includes chapters concerned with the following themes concepts and devices set in the context of experimental life writing illness disability mourning relationality place catalogue narration and fragmentation To ensure clarity and consistency each chapter follows the same structure a theoretical discussion of a given notion comprising a brief discussion of its various aspects and examples followed by a close reading of a chosen text Case studies are devoted to significant contemporary works by authors such as Hazel V Carby J M Coetzee Anne Garr ta Karen Green Vona Groarke Han Kang Mary Karr Deborah Levy Hilary Mantel Maggie Nelson Ruth Ozeki Mark Tredinnick Una D J Waldie and Wim Wenders The volume is dedicated to exploring innovative forms of and in contemporary Anglophone life writing and it makes an important contribution to a rich and burgeoning field of interdisciplinary practice and research Life Storying in Oral History Jarmila Mildorf, 2023-06-06 This book proposes the concept of fictional contamination to capture the fact that
