Prophecy and Politics in the Early Carolingian World Andrew Sorber, 2024-04-16 Prophetic and apocalyptic rhetoric play critical roles in the development and articulation of political authority in the reigns of Charlemagne d 814 and Louis the Pious d 840 The rhetorical authority derived from claims of receiving revelation interpreting divine communication speaking for God and foreseeing calamities became a competitive medium through which individuals legitimized political behaviour debated their long and short term aspirations and struggled for political supremacy Ranging from claims of revelations dreams and visions to the adoption of rhetorical voices based on biblical prophets to the interpretation of signs and portents prophetic rhetoric enjoyed extensive experimentation and varied application throughout early medieval political discourse Prophecy and Politics in the Early Carolingian World argues that claims of divine revelation resistant to any attempts to monopolize them provided a powerful means of speaking with authority for all participants in Frankish political discourse This authority proved instrumental in the articulation and dismantling of effective Carolingian royal authority from 768 to 840 The volume introduces and reinterprets early Carolingian political discourse and intellectual activity as well as the centrality of apocalypticism in the Carolingian period by emphasizing prophecy or revelation and authority rather than prediction and calamity Early Carolingian political discourse was a dialogue that took place across royal proclamations legal statements historical texts visions scriptural commentaries and manifestations of the natural world and in this dialogue the ability to interpret God s will was as powerful as it was problematic
