The Pull of Postcolonial Nationhood Ayo A. Coly, 2010-06-23 While the male dominated Francophone African migrant literary tradition includes women writers there is no study that attends to this subgroup of writers The Pull of Postcolonial Nationhood Gender and Migration in Francophone African Literatures pioneers the study of these writers as a category through an examination of three major women who exemplify the Francophone African female migrant literary tradition Ken Bugul Calixthe Beyala and Fatou Diome By studying these women together Ayo A Coly innovatively introduces gender into prevailing theories of Francophone African migrant literatures These theories in line with the current surge of postnationalism in cultural criticism claim that questions of home and nationhood are obsolete for the present generation of Francophone African migrant writers but this book shows that the opposite is true in the texts of these writers Coly is thus able to demonstrate how claims of postnationalism are often skewed by gender blind understandings of nationalism namely a failure to consider that women have traditionally been the sites for discourses and practices of nationalism Amid the negative currency of home and nation in contemporary cultural criticism including postcolonial criticism this book contends that home remains a politically ideologically and emotionally loaded matter for postcolonial subjects

The Anatomy of Architecture Suzanne Preston Blier, 1994. Blier illuminates the extraordinary architecture of the Batammbaliba people of Western Africa, revealing these buildings as texts through which we can read the beliefs, psychology, traditions, and social concerns of their inhabitants. In doing so, she explores the role of vernacular architecture as an expression of culture. A splendid analysis of the centrality of architecture in the daily lives of the Batammbaliba and its integral role in articulating social values. The story is beautifully told in the best of anthropological traditions. Judith R. Blau. Contemporary Society. A remarkable study. Blier's volume carries the study of African architecture to a qualitatively new level of scholarship. It introduces a new dimension whereby the architectural medium can be used to illuminate much of the entire belief system of any culture. Labelle Prussin. African Arts. In this excellent book, Blier provides a richly detailed and searching account of what architecture means to the Batammbaliba of northern Togo and Benin. The finest account I have yet read of the relations between systems of beliefs, ritual practices, and African aesthetics and plastic arts. The ethnography and basic insight should be the envy of any social anthropologist. T. O. Beidelman. Man. The Complexities of Morphology Peter Arkadiev, Francesco Gardani, 2020. This volume explores the multiple aspects of morphological complexity, offering typological, acquisitional, sociolinguistic, and diachronic perspectives. The analyses are based on rich empirical data from a wide range of languages as well as experimental data from artificial language learning. A Manual of the Flowering Plants and Ferns of the Transvaal with Swaziland, South Africa Joseph Burt Davy, 1926 A New English Dictionary on Historical Principles James Augustus Henry Murray, 1888 A New English Dictionary on Historical Principles Sir James Augustus Henry Murray, Sir William Alexander Craigie, Henry Bradley, Charles Talbot Onions, 1888 Reframing Deforestation James Fairhead, Melissa Leach, 2003-09-02. This study reviews how West African deforestation is represented and the evidence which informs deforestation orthodoxy On a country by country basis covering Sierra Leone Liberia Cote D Ivoire Ghana Togo and Benin and using historical and social anthropological evidence the authors evaluate this orthodox critically Reframing Deforestation suggests that the scale of deforestation wrought by West African farmers during the twentieth century has been vastly exaggerated The authors argue that global analyses have unfairly stigmatised West Africa and obscured its more sustainable even landscape enriching practices Stressing that dominant policy approaches in forestry and conservation require major rethinking worldwide Reframing Deforestation illustrates that more realistic assessments of forest cover change and more respectful attention to local knowledge and practices are necessary bases for effective and appropriate environmental policies
