does It proposes two novel ideas One is that the gaze of theatre and performance offers a reframing of some of the behaviours and actions of people with dementia through which deficit views can be changed to ones of possibility The other is that conversely dementia offers productive perspectives on theatre of the real Scanning contemporary critical studies about and practices of theatre of the real performances and applied theatre interventions the book probes what it means when certain theatre of the real practices specifically verbatim and autobiographical interact with storytellers considered culturally to be unreliable narrators It also explores whether autobiographical theatre is useful in reinforcing a sense of self for those deemed no longer to have one With a focus on the relationship between stories and selves the book investigates how selves might be rethought so that they are not contingent on the production of lucid self narratives consistent language and truthful memories
