Benyera, 2024-11-18 This book investigates the political legacy of colonialism in contemporary African institutions Using the case study of electoral and justice institutions in post colonial Zimbabwe the book explores how those in post colonial states relate to and with institutions initially designed to oppress them and remain structurally and systematically colonial The book argues that the colonial era colonised the land knowledge and minds of Africans resulting in injustice and epistemicides The book demonstrates how the critical institutions of elections and justice have been rendered anti black and toxic The book calls for Africa to invest in epistemic independence unencumbered by Western political modernity and then deploy that independence to build reconstituted institutions structures and systems that serve the interests of Africans This book will be an important read for African policymakers and researchers working on African politics governance and international relations The Zimbabwe Culture Innocent Pikirayi, Joseph O. Vogel, 2002-07-15 Offering a unique and original perspective on the rise and fall of indigenous states of southern Zambezia The Zimbabwe Culture analyzes the long contentious history of the remains of the remarkable cyclopean masonry ranging from mighty capitals of traditional kings to humble farmsteads Forming a cornerstone of the geographical lore of Africa in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries debate on the origins development and collapse of the Zimbabwe culture has never ceased and with increasing archaeological research over the twentieth century has become more complex Thoroughly examining the growth and decline of pre colonial states on the entire Zimbabwean Plateau and southern Zambezia Dr Pikirayi has contributed tremendously towards the archaeological understanding of this extraordinary culture The Zimbabwe Culture is essential reading for all students and avocationalists of African archaeology history and culture Crafting Identity in Zimbabwe and Mozambique Elizabeth MacGonagle, 2007

Crosses conventional theoretical temporal and geographical boundaries to show how the Ndau of southeast Africa actively shaped their own identity over a four hundred year period Archives, Objects, Places and Landscapes Munyaradzi

Manyanga, Shadreck Chirikure, 2017-04-11 Dissatisfaction has matured in Africa and elsewhere around the fact that often the dominant frameworks for interpreting the continent's past are not rooted on the continent's value system and philosophy This creates knowledge that does not make sense especially to local communities The big question therefore is can Africans develop theories that can contribute towards the interpretation of the African past using their own experiences Framed within a concept revision substrate the collection of papers in this thought provoking volume argues for concept revision as a step towards decolonizing knowledge in the post colony The various papers powerfully expose that cleansed knowledge is not only locally relevant it is also locally accessible and globally understandable The Oxford Handbook of Historical Ecology and Applied Archaeology Christian Isendahl, Daryl Stump, 2019-01-10 The Oxford Handbook of Historical Ecology and Applied Archaeology presents theoretical discussions methodological outlines and case studies describing the field of overlap between historical ecology and the emerging sub discipline of applied archaeology to highlight how modern environments and landscapes have been shaped by humans Historical ecology is based on the recognition that humans are not only capable of modifying their environments but that all environments on earth have already been directly or indirectly modified This includes anthropogenic climate change widespread deforestations and species extinctions but also very local alterations the effects of which may last a few years or may have legacies lasting centuries or more With contributions from anthropologists archaeologists human geographers and historians this volume focuses not just on defining human impacts in the past but on the ways that understanding these changes can help inform contemporary practices and development policies Some chapters present examples of how ancient or current societies have modified their environments in sustainable ways while others highlight practices that had unintended long term consequences The possibilities of learning from these practices are discussed as is the potential of using the long history of human resource exploitation as a method for building or testing models of future change The volume offers overviews for students researchers and professionals with an interest in conservation or development projects who want to understand what practical insights can be drawn from history and who seek to apply their work to contemporary issues Becoming Zimbabwe. A History from the Pre-colonial Period to 2008 Brian Raftopoulos, Alois Mlambo, 2009-09-15 Becoming Zimbabwe is the first comprehensive history of Zimbabwe spanning the years from 850 to 2008 In 1997 the then Secretary General of the Zimbabwe Congress of Trade Unions Morgan Tsvangirai expressed the need for a more open and critical process of writing history in Zimbabwe The history of a nation in the making should not be reduced to a selective heroic tradition but should be a tolerant and continuing process of questioning and re examination Becoming Zimbabwe tracks the idea of national belonging and citizenship and explores the nature of state rule the changing contours of the political economy and the regional and international dimensions of the country's history In their Introduction Brian Raftopoulos and Alois Mlambo enlarge on these themes and Gerald Mazarire's opening chapter sets the pre colonial background Sabelo Ndlovu tracks the history up to WW11 and Alois Mlambo reviews developments in the settler economy and the emergence of nationalism leading to UDI in 1965 The politics and economics of the UDI period and the subsequent war of liberation are covered by Joseph Mtisi Munyaradzi Nyakudya and Teresa Barnes After independence in 1980 Zimbabwe enjoyed a period of buoyancy and hope James Muzondidya's chapter details the transition from buoyancy to crisis and Brian Raftopoulos concludes the book with an analysis of the decade long crisis and the global political agreement which followed Guns and Rain David Lan, 1985-11-14 This book makes us understand an historical event of world importance the liberation of Zimbabwe from the point of view of ordinary people It is not only a specific study of great brilliance but also a model which shows how anthropology can contribute to politics and history Maurice Bloch Professor of Anthropology London School of Economics in his preface to this book

Ethnicity in Zimbabwe Enocent Msindo, 2012 A comparative study of identity shifts in two large ethnic groups in Matabeleland Zimbabwe Ethnicity in Zimbabwe Transformations in Kalanga and Ndebele Societies 1860 1990 is a comparative study of identity shifts in two large ethnic groups in Matabeleland Zimbabwe The study begins in 1860 a year after the establishment of the Inyati mission station in the Ndebele Kingdom and ends in the postcolonial period Author Enocent Msindo asserts that despite what many social historians have argued the creation of ethnic identity in Matabeleland was not solely the result of colonial rule and the new colonial African elites but that African ethnic consciousness existed prior to this time formed and shaped by ordinary members of these ethnic groups During this period the interaction of the Kalanga and Ndebele fed the development of complex ethnic regional cultural and subnationalist identities By examining the complexities of identities in this region Msindo uncovers hidden alternative and unofficial histories contested claims to land and civic authority the politics of language the struggles of communities defined as underdogs and the different ways by which the dominant Ndebele have dealt with their regional others the Kalanga The book ultimately demonstrates the ways in which debates around ethnicity and other identities in Zimbabwe and in Matabeleland in particular relate to wider issues in both rural and urban Zimbabwe past and present Enocent Msindo is Senior Lecturer in History at Rhodes University Grahamstown South Africa

Great Zimbabwe Shadreck Chirikure, 2020-11-29 Conditioned by local ways of knowing and doing Great Zimbabwe develops a new interpretation of the famous World Heritage site of Great Zimbabwe It combines archaeological knowledge including recent material from the author's excavations with native concepts and philosophies Working from a large data set has made it possible for the first time to develop an archaeology of Great Zimbabwe that is informed by finds and observations from the entire site and wider landscape In so doing the book strongly contributes towards decolonising African and world archaeology Written in an accessible manner the book is aimed at undergraduate students graduate students and practicing archaeologists both in Africa and across the globe The book will also make contributions to the broader field such as African Studies African History and World Archaeology through its emphasis on developing synergies between local ways of knowing and the archaeology

Understanding Cultural Landscape at Great Zimbabwe Ashton Sinamai, 2024-12-16 Understanding Cultural Landscape at Great Zimbabwe Realms of Power by Ashton Sinamai engages with archaeology through Karanga Kalanga concepts of cosmology and philosophy to understand the landscape at Great Zimbabwe the medieval city and cultural heritage site Sinamai un disciplines and decolonializes archaeology and highlights aspects of the landscape that have been impacted by colonial legislations nationalization and internationalization This book provides new perspectives on the landscape and it addresses debates among African and Western archaeologists in reforming the practice interpretation and construction of archaeological narratives in Africa Sinamai debunks Western myths by exploring African heritage through diverse knowledge systems to illuminate our understanding of place Each chapter unfurls a variety of facets within Great Zimbabwe discovering what a place can mean how it shapes culture and what emotions and memories can be evoked through local narratives This book goes beyond human memory and shows how the landscape also remembers African knowledge systems are essential to the development and understanding of African archaeology and African heritage management systems Great Zimbabwe Amelia Khatri, AI, 2025-03-19

Great Zimbabwe explores the fascinating history of a powerful medieval city in Southern Africa revealing its sophisticated stone architecture extensive trade networks and complex social structures This civilization thrived centuries before European contact leaving behind monumental ruins that continue to inspire awe and spark debate among historians and archaeologists The book delves into the intricate details of the city's construction highlighting how skilled labor and innovative techniques allowed the creation of iconic stone enclosures Archaeological evidence suggests the city's leaders controlled regional trade routes accumulating wealth and influencing surrounding communities demonstrating a sophisticated understanding of economic systems and political structures The book examines Great Zimbabwe's political ideology economic engine and cultural expressions providing a multifaceted understanding of this civilization It draws upon archaeological excavations oral histories and historical documents to offer a nuanced perspective The narrative progresses from introducing the geographical setting and history of research to exploring specific aspects of the city's life such as its economy political system and artistic traditions By emphasizing indigenous African agency and challenging Eurocentric narratives Great Zimbabwe provides a valuable resource for anyone interested in African history and the achievements of its civilizations

International Handbook of Historical Archaeology Teresita Majewski, David Gaimster, 2009-06-07 In studying the past archaeologists have focused on the material remains of our ancestors Prehistorians generally have only artifacts to study and rely on the diverse material record for their understanding of past societies and their behavior Those involved in studying historically documented cultures not only have extensive material remains but also contemporary texts images and a range of investigative technologies to enable them to build a broader and more reflexive picture of how past societies communities and individuals operated and behaved Increasingly historical archaeology refers not to a particular period place or a method but rather an approach that interrogates the tensions between artifacts and texts irrespective of context In short historical archaeology provides direct evidence for how humans have shaped the world we live in today Historical archaeology is a branch of global archaeology that has grown in the last 40 years from its North American base into an increasingly global community of archaeologists each studying their area of the world in a historical context Where historical archaeology started as part of the study of the post Columbian societies of the United States and Canada it has now expanded to interface with the post medieval archaeologies of Europe and the diverse post imperial experiences of Africa Latin America and Australasia The 36 essays in the International Handbook of Historical Archaeology have been specially commissioned from the leading researchers in their fields creating a wide ranging digest of the increasingly global field of historical archaeology The volume is divided into two sections the first reviewing the key themes issues and approaches of historical archaeology today and the second containing a series of case studies charting the development and current state of historical archaeological practice around the world This key reference work captures the energy and diversity of this global discipline today

The Zimbabwe African People's Union, 1961-87 Eliakim M. Sibanda, 2005 This book is an exploration of the political history of insurgency in Southern Rhodesia During the early years of its struggle ZAPU employed non violent means to try and achieve its goal for majority rule and a non racial society Because of the belligerency of the White settler regime ZAPU added the armed resistance to its strategy and went on to build a formidable army Problems escalated and alliances were built and dissolved until tired of being hunted down and butchered the ZAPU leadership decided to merge its party with the ruling party in December 1987

Historical Archaeology Pedro Paulo A. Funari, Martin Hall, Sian Jones, 2013-03-07 Historical Archaeology demonstrates the potential of adopting a flexible encompassing definition of historical archaeology which involves the study of all societies with documentary evidence It encourages research that goes beyond the boundaries between prehistory and history Ranging in subject matter from Roman Britain and Classical Greece to colonial Africa Brazil and the United States the contributors present a much broader range of perspectives than is currently the trend

Society, Power, and Land in Northeastern Zimbabwe, ca. 1560-1960 Admire Mseba, 2024-11-12 A little over two decades ago Zimbabwe undertook its Fast Track Land Reform Programme Critics saw it as nothing more than an assault on human and property rights for political expedience by a ruling elite that was fast losing its power In contrast those sympathetic to the land reform program saw it as fundamental to the righting of colonialism's historical wrongs Yet rural displacements at the hands of state actors or of those closely connected to them continue As in the past the continuing land conflicts are mostly understood as the result of the actions of an authoritarian state that exploits its control of land for the political and economic benefit of those who inhabit it These explanations share one thing in common each understands the country's perpetual land questions in terms of the actions or inactions of the colonial or the postcolonial state This book refocuses attention on how regimes of power rooted in kinship gender generation and status have individually and in combination informed access to land in precolonial northeastern Zimbabwe It then examines how these regimes of power interacted with colonial policies to inform the African experience in colonial Zimbabwe Further the book places land and the ability to ensure its fecundity at the center of the making and moderation of precolonial political power and how this power was impacted by the imposition of colonial rule Tracing the dynamics of land and power from precolonial times together with their entanglement with colonial policies is important for this relationship is almost always neglected by both scholars and policymakers drawn to the high drama of colonial and postcolonial politics of land This oversight has real consequences on our understandings of landed inequalities and how they are addressed When Zimbabwe's postcolonial state focused on colonially induced racialized land inequalities its land reform efforts left older forms of landed inequalities based on gender generation and ideas of belonging intact The book which details these inequalities reminds Zimbabweans and others that if the quest for equity espoused in postcolonial land reforms is to be meaningful it must be attentive to both colonially induced inequalities and those enduring disparities that predated were deepened by and outlived colonial rule At the same time Zimbabweans who now live with a postcolonial state that is increasingly centralizing power over land may well learn from past societies creative efforts to limit the authority of their leaders

The Archaeological Identity of the Mutapa State Innocent Pikirayi, 1993 Encyclopedia of African History 3-Volume Set KEVIN SHILLINGTON., 2005 Archaeologies of Listening Peter R. Schmidt, Alice B. Kehoe, 2022-04-26

Archaeologists tend to rely on scientific methods to reconstruct past histories an approach that can alienate local indigenous populations and limit the potential of archaeological research Essays in this volume argue that listening to and learning from local and descendant communities is vital for interpreting the histories and heritage values of archaeological sites Case studies from around the world demonstrate how a humanistic perspective with people centric practice decolonizes the discipline by unlocking an intellectual space and collaborative role for indigenous people These examples show how listening to oral traditions has opened up broader understandings of ancient rituals in Tanzania where indigenous knowledge paved the way to significant archaeological finds about local iron technology Archaeologists working with owners of traditional food ovens in Northern Australia discovered the function of mysterious earth mounds nearby and the involvement of local communities in the interpretation of the Sigiriya World Heritage Site in Sri Lanka led to a better understanding of indigenous values The ethical implications for positioning archaeology as a way to bridge divisions are also explored In a case study from Northern Ireland researchers risked sparking further conflict by listening to competing narratives about the country's political past and a study of archival records from nineteenth century grave excavations in British Columbia where remains were taken without local permission reveals why indigenous people in the region still regard archaeology with deep suspicion The value of cultural apprenticeship to those who have long term relationships with the landscape is nearly forgotten today contributors argue This volume points the way to a reawakening of the core principles of anthropology in archaeology and heritage studies Contributors Peter Schmidt Alice Kehoe Kathryn Weedman Arthur Catherine Carlson Billy Foghl Audrey Horning Steve Mrozowski George Nicholas Innocent Pikirayi Jonathan Walz Camina Weasel Moccasin Jagath Weerasinghe
