Teaching and Learning Argumentative Writing in High School English Language Arts Classrooms George Newell, David Bloome, Alan Hirvela, 2015-06-05 Focused on the teaching and learning argumentative writing in grades 9-12, this important contribution to literacy education research and classroom practice offers a new perspective, a set of principled practices, and case studies of excellent teaching. The case studies illustrate teaching and learning argumentative writing as the construction of knowledge and new understandings about experiences, ideas, and texts. Six themes key to teaching argumentative writing as a thoughtful, multi-leveled practice for deep learning and expression are presented: teaching and learning argumentative writing as social practice; teachers' epistemological beliefs about argumentative writing; variations in instructional chains; instructional conversations in support of argumentative writing; deep learning and appreciation of multiple perspectives; contextualized analysis of argumentative writing and the teaching and learning of argumentative writing and the construction of rationalities.

An Introduction to Advanced Academic Argumentative Writing Approach for High School and Undergraduate Students Dr. Julius Nang Kum, An Introduction to the Advanced Academic Argumentative Writing Approach for High School and Undergraduate Students. This long-awaited textbook examines the knowledge-making genre or the argumentative writing at the advanced stage. It provides students with an insightful and a coherent picture of the academic argumentative essay, which is a training tool for knowledge making for most convincing writings. The book is divided into six chapters. Chapter one highlights some key pragmatic features which are very necessary for most successful students in the academic world. Chapter two focuses on the writing skills and some advantages of being a good writer. The remaining chapters identify the actual definition of an academic argumentative writing and also highlight the components of the introduction section, the body section, and the conclusion section of the knowledge constructing genre. The book would be appropriate as a training tool for the writing skills of many advanced and undergraduate students. We hope that high school and undergraduate students would find the book very interesting and vital for their advanced argumentative writings and some related convincing writings in other fields.

The Argument Writing Toolkit Sean Ruday, 2015-07-16 In order for students to write effective arguments, they need to read good arguments. In this practical book, you will find out how to use mentor texts to make writing instruction more meaningful, authentic, and successful. Author Sean Ruday demonstrates how you can teach middle school students to analyze the qualities of effective arguments and then help them think of those qualities as tools to improve their own writing. You will learn how to introduce high-interest topics to students to get them interested and engaged in argument writing. Teach students to look at multiple sides of an issue and critically evaluate evidence to construct informed, defensible arguments. Make argument writing an interactive, student-driven exercise in which students pursue their own writing projects. Use mentor texts to help students learn the core concepts of argument writing and apply those skills across the curriculum. The book is filled with examples and templates you can bring back to the classroom immediately as well as an annotated bibliography which links the concepts in this book to the corresponding Common Core State Standards Blank templates are also available as printable eResources on our website <http://www.routledge.com/9781138924390>

How Students Write: A Linguistic Analysis Laura Louise Aull, 2020-04-01 Broad generalizations about people today are a familiar feature of first year student writing How Students Write brings a fresh perspective to this perennial observation using corpus linguistics techniques This study analyzes sentence level patterns in student writing to develop an understanding of how students present evidence draw connections between ideas relate to their readers and ultimately learn to construct knowledge in their writing Drawing on both first year and upper level student writing the book examines the discourse of students at different points in their education It also distinguishes between argumentative and analytic essays to explore the way school genres and assignments shape students choices In focusing on sentence level features such as hedges perhaps and boosters definitely this study shows how such rhetorical choices work together to open or close opportunities for thoughtful exchanges of ideas Attention to these features can help instructors foster civil discourse design effective assignments and expose and question norms of higher education
