An American Dictionary of the English Language Webster, 1845 Vladimir Nabokov as an Author-Translator Julie Loison-Charles, 2022-11-17 Exploring the deeply translational and transnational nature of the writings of Vladimir Nabokov this book argues that all his work is unified by the permanent presence of three cultures and languages Russian English and French In particular Julie Loison Charles focusses on Nabokov's dual nature as both an author and a translator and the ways in which translation permeates his fictional writing from his very first Russian works to his last novels in English Although self translation has received a lot of attention in Nabokov criticism this book considers his work as an author translator drawing particular attention to his often underappreciated and underestimated but no less crucial third language French Looking at Nabokov's encounters with pseudotranslation Julie Loison Charles demonstrates the influence this had on his practice as both a translator and a writer arguing that this experience was crucial to his ability to create bridges between the literary traditions of Europe Russia and America The book also triangulates his practice and theory of translation for Onegin with those of Chateaubriand and Venuti to illuminate Nabokov's transnational vision of literature and his ethics of translation before presenting a robust case for reconsidering his collaborative translations in French as mediated self translations A dictionary, English-Latin, and Latin-English ... The fifteenth edition, with large additions Elisha COLES (Lexicographer), 1749

Style, Mediation, and Change Janus Mortensen, Nikolas Coupland, Jacob Thøgersen, 2017 Technologically mediated talk is organized around familiar styles styles of person relationship and genre But media also consistently remake and re style these familiar patterns This book brings together original research on media styling in different national contexts and languages written by authors at the forefront of sociolinguistic research on mediated talk It highlights and theorizes how creative acts of mediated styling can promote social and sociolinguistic change The globalized world is already massively mediatized what we know about language people and society is necessarily shaped through our engagement with media But talking media are caught up in wider currents of rapid change too Creative innovations in media styling can heighten reflexive awareness but they can also unsettle existing understandings of language society relations In reporting new investigations by expert researchers this book gives an original and timely account of how style media and change need to be integrated further to advance the discipline of sociolinguistics Sites of Mediation Christine Göttler, Lucas

Burkart, Susanna Burghartz, 2016-09-07 This book explores the dynamic relationships between sites people's objects and images during the first age of globalization in early modern Europe It investigates interactions interconnections and entanglements on both micro and macro levels and aims to understand the specific dynamics of processes of translocal and transcultural intersection Linking global perspectives with the history of material culture Sites of Mediation highlights the potential of objects artefacts and things to connect urban cultures and imaginaries Individual chapters focus on a number of European cities which all operated on different levels of global and interregional connections and are presented here as sites
