Education, Religion and Diversity L. Philip Barnes, 2014-02-05 In this thoughtful and provocative book Philip Barnes challenges religious educators to re think their field and proposes a new post liberal model of religious education to help them do so His model both confronts prejudice and intolerance and also allows the voices of different religions to be heard and critically explored While Education Religion and Diversity is directed to a British audience the issues it raises and the alternative it proposes are important for those educators in the United States who believe that the public schools have an important role in teaching students about religion Walter Feinberg Professor Emeritus of Education Policy Organization and Leadership at the University of Illinois Urbana Champaign Philip Barnes offers a penetrating and lucid analysis of the strengths and weaknesses of modern religious education in Britain He considers a range of epistemological and methodological issues and identifies two contrasting models of religious education that have been influential what he calls a liberal and a postmodern model After a detailed review and criticism of both he outlines his own new post liberal model of religious education one that is compatible with both confessional and non confessional forms of religious education yet takes religious diversity and religious truth claims seriously Essential reading for all religious educators and those concerned with the role of religion in schools Bernd Schr der Professor of Practical Theology and Religious Education University of G ttingen What place if any does religious education have in the schools of an increasingly diverse society This lucid and authoritative book makes an incisive contribution to this crucial debate Roger Trigg is Emeritus Professor of Philosophy University of Warwick and Senior Research Fellow Ian Ramsey Centre Oxford The challenge of diversity is central to education in modern liberal democratic states and religious education is often the point where these differences become both most acute and where it is believed of all curriculum subjects resolutions are most likely to be found Education Religion and Diversity identifies and explores the commitments and convictions that have guided post confessional religious education and concludes controversially that the subject as currently theorised and practised is incapable of challenging religious intolerance and of developing respectful relationships between people from different communities and groups within society It is argued that despite the rhetoric of success which religious education is obliged to rehearse in order to perpetuate its status in the curriculum and to ensure political support a fundamentally new model of religious education is required to meet the challenge of diversity to education and to society A new framework for religious education is developed which offers the potential for the subject to make a genuine contribution to the creation of a responsible respectful society Education Religion and Diversity is a wide ranging provocative exploration of religious education in modern liberal democracies It is essential reading for those concerned with the role of religion in education and for religious and theological educators who want to think critically about the aims and character of religious education

Ethics of Belonging Erica M. Larson, 2023-11-30 The city of Manado and province of North Sulawesi have built a public identity based on religious harmony claiming to successfully model tolerance and inter religious relations for the rest of Indonesia Yet in discourses and practices relevant to everyday interactions in schools and political debates in the public sphere two primary contested frames for belonging emerge in tension with one another On the one hand aspirational coexistence recognizes a common goal of working toward religious harmony and inclusive belonging On the other hand majoritarian coexistence in which the legitimacy of religious minorities is understood as guaranteed exclusively by the goodwill of the Protestant majority also emerges in discourses and practices of coexistence These two agonistic frames of coexistence stem from both a real pride at having staved off ethno religious violence that plagued surrounding regions at the turn of the twenty first century as well as a concern about whether the area will maintain a Christian majority in the future Based on ethnographic research in Manado North Sulawesi a Protestant majority region of Indonesia Ethics of Belonging investigates the dynamics of ethical deliberation about religious coexistence In this analysis schools are understood as central sites for exchange about the ethics and politics of belonging in the nation The author draws on in depth fieldwork at three secondary schools a public high school private Catholic boarding school and public madrasah an inter religious exchange program among university students and societal debates about religion and belonging Each of the schools promotes a distinct method to addressing diversity and a particular understanding of the relationship between religious and civic values Larson s research demonstrates how ethical frameworks for approaching religious difference are channeled and negotiated through educational institutions linking up with their broader political context and debates in the community This resource argues for a consideration of ethical reflection as a fundamentally pedagogical process with important ramifications beyond the immediate environment The focus on educational institutions provides a critical connection between interpersonal and public ethical deliberation elucidating the entanglements of ethics and politics and their manifestation across different societal scales International Handbook of the Religious, Moral and Spiritual Dimensions in Education Marian de Souza, Gloria Durka, Kathleen Engebretson, Robert Jackson, Andrew McGrady, 2007-06-04 Traditionally spirituality has resided and been contained within religious frameworks but while the links between the two areas are still acknowledged by many in the contemporary world spirituality is perceived by some as an aspect of human life that is distinct from religion Consequently many are searching for meaning within and without religious traditions today and seeking answers to ethical and moral questions that have been generated by the knowledge and technological explosion One outcome is the renewed interest in the religious spiritual and moral dimensions of education throughout the life cycle This International Handbook presents the research and professional practice of scholars who are daily engaged in the consideration of these dimensions in education The result is a collection of essays which reflects the discipline in all of its internationality as it is today Embedded within the chapters is also an agenda for the future where the religious moral and spiritual dimensions in education are proposed as an exciting and challenging way forward for educators at all levels in society As well it offers a vision for the emergence of a peaceful and just world Religious Education at Schools in Europe Martin Rothgangel, Martin Jäggle, Geir Skeie, 2014 At a time when educational issues have increasingly come to determine the social and political discourse and major reforms of the education system are being discussed and implemented and when migration has become a significant phenomenon contributing to changes in the religious landscape of the European continent it is highly appropriate to focus our attention on the concrete situation regarding religious education Towards a Methodology for Comparative Studies in Religious Education Oddrun M.H. Bråten, 2013 In this book Oddrun M H Br ten set out to utilise and test her methodology for comparative religious education This synthesises two sets of ideas The first includes supranational national and subnational processes Formal supranational processes refer to international educational policymaking in international organisations Informal supranational processes include secularisation pluralisation and globalisation Subnational processes refer to variations between regions within a country The second set of ideas concerns the societal institutional instructional and experiential levels of curriculum They are affected by supranational national and subnational processes In discussing the societal level attention needs to be given to the histories of religion state and school in each country Research at the institutional level involves analysis of relevant policy documents and legislation in each country while research at the instructional level involves analysis of how teachers interpret plan and teach the curriculum while the experiential level researches how students interact with one another and with teachers to develop their understanding A third set of ideas includes Br ten s use of Schiffauer and collaborators concepts of social national imaginary and civil enculturation These concepts help in grasping the historical and sociological depth of national traditions This publication is a groundbreaking study in the methodology of comparative religious education and the author won the award for Outstanding Research Student of 2009 2010 in the field of education at the University of Warwick
