The Civil Rights Movement

The Civil Rights Movement is known as a period of time in the 1950s and 1960s that really began about 100 years earlier, after the American Civil War. The Civil Rights Movement occurred because of the desire for racial equality after the end of slavery in America.

After the Civil War, the American South was created. There were different segregation, which meant people were kept separate. There were segregation laws in schools and in public places. There were laws that said that people could not mix with each other.

But people in the South were not happy with the segregation. They wanted to be treated as equals. They wanted to be able to go to school with white people and to work with white people. They wanted to be able to vote and to have the same rights as white people.

One of the first things that happened was that people started to go to school with white people. This was called desegregation. It was a big step towards equality.
