This comprehensive volume explores the set of theoretical, methodological, ethical, and analytical issues that shape the ways in which visual qualitative research is conducted in psychology. Using visual data such as film, making social media analyses, photography, and model making, the book uniquely uses visual qualitative methods to broaden our understanding of experience and subjectivity. In recent years, visual research has seen a growing emphasis on the importance of culture in experience-based qualitative methods. Featuring contributors from diverse research backgrounds, including narrative psychology, personal construct theory, and psychoanalysis, the book examines the potential for visual methods in psychology. In each chapter of the book, the contributors explore and address how a visual approach has contributed to existing social and psychological theory in their line of research. The book provides up-to-date insights into combining methods to create new multi-modal methodologies and analyses these with psychology-specific questions in mind. It covers topics such as sexuality, identity, group processes, child development, forensic psychology, race, and gender, and would be the ideal companion for those studying or undertaking research in disciplines like psychology, sociology, and gender studies.
