Chapter 4 Close Reading Questions for Individuals or Groups

Thank you for purchasing this close reading guide for Chapter 4 "The Interview" in Nathaniel Hawthorne's The Scarlet Letter! If you have any questions, please email me at kimcarnahan.TPT@gmail.com and I will answer them as quickly as possible. My goal is for you to have a great experience with my product!

This guide can be used as students read Chapter 4 together in a group, or after a reading assignment for the chapter.

This activity can be used individually or in groups. I use this assignment for pairs of students; it seems to work better than with larger groups. Students will need to use their texts and dictionaries. This activity is designed for no more than one 40-minute class period to complete the entire worksheet, which we then review together for less than one additional class period. In the interest of time, questions could be split among pairs of students, with each pair teaching the others, or a class or by rotating one student from each pair throughout the class for sharing of each pair's answers. I distribute one worksheet per person so notes can be taken. Because my students use copies of the novel purchased for them to keep, they are also encouraged to annotate and highlight as they discover answers, and to point out to others where they found their answers in the text.

This activity allows students to begin to perceive the characterization of Chillingworth and to add to their perceptions about Hester and even the baby, Pearl. They will discover, through this activity, that Hawthorne lends deep complexity and great breadth to characters through many means, including speech, descriptions, and actions, and through the biased observations of the third-person omniscient narrator.

The Sketch, the Tale, and the Beginnings of American Literature Lydia G. Fash,2020-03-31 Accounts of the rise of American literature often start in the 1850s with a cluster of great American novels Hawthorne s The Scarlet Letter Melville s Moby Dick and Stowe s Uncle Tom s Cabin But these great works did not spring fully formed from the heads of their creators All three relied on conventions of short fiction built up during the culture of beginnings the three decades following the War of 1812 when public figures glorified the American past and called for a patriotic national literature Decentering the novel as the favored form of early nineteenth century national literature Lydia Fash repositions the sketch and the tale at the center of accounts of American literary history revealing how cultural forces shaped short fiction that was subsequently mined for these celebrated midcentury novels and for the first novel published by an African American In the shorter works of writers such as Washington Irving Catharine Sedgwick Edgar Allan Poe and Lydia Maria Child among others the aesthetic of brevity enabled the beginning idea of a story to take the outsized importance fitted to the culture of beginnings Fash argues that these short forms with their ethnic exclusions and narrative innovations coached readers on how to think about the United States past and the nature of narrative time itself Combining history print history and literary criticism this book treats short fiction as a vital site for debate over what it meant to be American thereby offering a new account of the birth of a self consciously national literary tradition

Contemporary Reconfigurations of American Literary Classics Betina Entzminger, 2013 The number and popularity of novels that have overtly reconfigured aspects of classic American texts suggests a curious trend for both readers and writers an impulse to retell and reread books that have come to define American culture This book argues that by revising canonical American literature contemporary American writers are re writing an American myth of origins creating one that corresponds to the contemporary writer's understanding of self and society Informed by cognitive psychology evolutionary literary criticism and poststructuralism Entzminger reads texts by canonical authors Poe Hawthorne Melville Alcott Twain Chopin and Faulkner and by the contemporary writers that respond to them In highlighting the construction and cognitive function of narrative in their own and in their antecedent texts contemporary writers highlight the fact that such use of narrative is universal and essential to human beings This book suggests that by revising the classic texts that compose our cultural narrative contemporary writers mirror the way human individuals consistently revisit and refigure the past through language via self narration in order to manage and understand experience

Hawthorne and the Real Millicent Bell, 2005 Hawthorne was with his own complicity long described as a writer of unreal romances as he preferred to call his novels or allegories of the heart as he termed some of his short stories The essays in this collection contribute to the turn in recent Hawthorne criticism which shows how deeply implicated in realism his writing was

Schools of Sympathy Nancy Roberts, 1997-09-12 Roberts argues that Clarissa's Hester's Isabel's and Tess's heroism or greatness is measured not by her actions but by the extent to which others are moved by her Therefore the character cannot be studied without studying the response she generates which in these novels is sympathy Roberts asserts that each of the novels can be understood as a school of sympathy through which we learn to behave and feel as gendered subjects and that our response to the heroine is as carefully crafted as the character herself Schools of Sympathy addresses issues of masochism female victimization the power of passive seduction and the possibilities of heroism As a counterpoint to these eighteenth and nineteenth century male perspectives Roberts examines works by Margaret Atwood and Angela Carter that explicitly address these issues

The Painful Truth Lynn R. Webster, 2016-12 Chronic pain is one of the most common medical problems in the modern world today yet our culture ignores it Webster validates the debilitating nature of pain offers practical answers and helps you become a catalyst for changing the way pain is viewed in society from Perry Miller's 1956 classic of American literary criticism The Raven and the Whale: The War of Words and Wits in the Era of Poe and Melville. Caroline Chamberlin Hellman's new book examines ways in which contemporary multi-ethnic writers of the United States have responded to nineteenth and early twentieth century texts historically central to the American literary canon. Each chapter of Children of the Raven and the Whale looks down the roads American literature ultimately traveled, examining pairs and constellations of texts in conversation. In their rewritings and layerings of new stories over older ones, contemporary writers forge ahead in their interrogations of a spectrum of American experience, whether they or their characters are native to the United States, first or second generation immigrants, or transnational. Revealing the traces of texts by writers such as Walt Whitman, Herman Melville, Nathaniel Hawthorne, F. Scott Fitzgerald, Ernest Hemingway, Richard Wright, and James Baldwin lying beneath contemporary American literature, by Chang-rae Lee, Jonathan Lethem, Jhumpa Lahiri, Junot Díaz, Joseph O'Neill, Colum McCann, and Ta-Nehisi Coates, Hellman posits the existence of a twenty-first century American renaissance.

Romanticism, a vibrant and transformative movement that emerged in the late 18th century, was a rebellion against the prevailing rationalism and materialism of the Enlightenment. It placed a premium on emotion, intuition, and the power of the imagination. Romantic writers sought to explore the inner workings of the human mind, to delve into the depths of passion and feeling, and to celebrate the beauty and wonder of the natural world. This emphasis on emotion and imagination led to a renewed interest in the individual. Romantic writers believed that each person possessed a unique and valuable perspective, and they sought to give voice to the experiences and emotions of ordinary people. They celebrated the individual's capacity for love, joy, sorrow, and despair, and they explored the complex interplay of these emotions in human relationships. Another defining characteristic of Romanticism was its fascination with the natural world. Romantic writers found solace and inspiration in the beauty and grandeur of nature. They saw nature as a source of spiritual and aesthetic renewal, a realm where one could escape the confines of society and commune with the divine. Romantic Writing: Words, Ideas, and Sentiments offers a comprehensive and engaging exploration of this pivotal literary movement. Through insightful analysis and thought-provoking discussions, this book sheds new light on the works of Romantic writers and their enduring legacy.
