Run Like a Girl Mina Samuels, 2011-03-01 Run Like A Girl is about the impact that participating in sports has on women how the confidence and strength that it helps to build makes us stronger and better prepared for life's many challenges. In this inspiring book, Mina Samuels uses the personal stories of women and girls of all ages and backgrounds as well as her own to take a broad look at the power sports have to help us overcome obstacles in all arenas of life. Run Like A Girl includes the stories of a US ranked amateur triathlete who's raising an autistic son, a thirteen-year-old girl who falls in love with cross-country running, a woman who runs her first marathon at age sixty, an investment banker who quit her job to become a yoga teacher and adopt a daughter on her own, a young mother with scoliosis who cycled her way back to health and became a jewelry designer along the way, and countless other women including Kathrine Switzer, Rebecca Rusch, and Molly Barker who have been changed by their experiences with sports. Run Like A Girl argues that physical strength lends itself to psychological strength and that for many women, participating in sports translates into leading a happier, more fulfilling life.

Real Women Run Sandra Faulkner, 2018-01-17 Real Women Run is an innovative feminist ethnography that consists of a series of linked essays and presentations about women who run at the intersections of queer, feminist, and running identities. Faulkner uses feminist grounded theory, poetic inquiry, and qualitative content analysis to examine women's embodied stories of running: how they run, how running fits into the context of their lives and relationships, how they enact or challenge cultural scripts of women's activities and normative running bodies, and what running means for their lives and identities. During a two and a half-year ethnography with women who run, Faulkner engaged in an intersectional qualitative content analysis of websites and blogs targeted to women runners, a grounded theory poetic analysis of 41 interviews with women who run, and participant observation at road races. Real Women Run speaks to the call for a more physical feminism. This ethnography sees women's physical and mental strength developed through running as a way to embrace the contradictions between a deconstructed focus on the mind/body split and the focus on individuals' actual material bodies and their everyday interactions with their bodies and through their bodies with the world around them.

Tales from Another Mother Runner Dimity McDowell, Sarah Bowen Shea, 2015-03-03 Every mother runner has a tale to tell. A story about how she realized fifteen years after being told that she's best being a bookworm that there is an athlete inside her. Or the one about how she, fifty pounds overweight and depressed, finally found the courage and time to lace up her running shoes. Or maybe it's about setting a seemingly impossible goal: going under two hours in the half-marathon and then methodically running that goal down and tearing up across the finish line. Or it might be an account of friendship: she was new to town, was having a hard time making friends, was asked to join a group run, and now she's got four BRFs, best running friends who are her allies, her cheerleaders, her reality checks. Maybe it's just a simple story of the beauty of starting the day off with an endorphin rush. Or, sadly, it could be about how, through the guidance of a thoughtful running friend, she found the space and rhythm to process being raped and regained her strength and sense of self through every footstep. In Mother Runners, elite runners Dimity McDowell and Sarah Bowen Shea share not only their own stories of personal triumph on the pavement but also the inspiring stories of many members of the vibrant mother runner community.

Eat Like a Pig, Run Like a Horse Anastacia Marx de Salcedo, 2022-07-05 There is no magic pill There is no perfect diet Could it be that our underlying assumption that what we're eating is making us fat and sick is just plain wrong To address the rapid rise of lifestyle diseases like diabetes and heart disease scientists have conducted a whopping 500 000 studies of diet and another 300 000 of obesity Journalists have written close to 250 million news articles combined about these topics Yet nothing seems to halt the epidemic Anastacia Marx de Salcedo's Eat Like a Pig Run Like a Horse looks not just to data driven science but to animals and the natural world around us for a new approach What she finds will transform the national debate about the root causes of our most pervasive diseases and offer hope of dramatically reducing the number who suffer no matter what they eat It all began with her own medical miracle she has multiple sclerosis but has discovered that daily exercise was key to keeping it from progressing And now new research backs up her own experience This revelation prompted Marx de Salcedo to ask what would happen if people with lifestyle illnesses put physical activity front and center in their daily lives Eat Like a Pig Run Like a Horse takes us on a fascinating journey that weaves together true confessions mad-ish scientists and beguiling animal stories Marx de Salcedo shows that we need to move beyond our current diet focused model to a new dynamic concept of metabolism as regulated by exercise Suddenly the answer to good health is almost embarrassingly simple Don't worry about what you eat Worry about how much you move In a few years time adhering to a finicky Keto Paleo low carb or any other special diet to stay healthy
