Past Year Papers And Memos For Powers N5:

Strange Death of the Liberal Empire David E. Torrance, 1996-01-17 David Torrance examines Lord Selborne's conception of empire and by implication the nature of British imperialism focusing on the Chinese labour controversy the self government issue the development of racial segregation and the creation of the Union of South Africa He reassesses the role of the imperial factor in shaping the state economy and society of twentieth century South Africa Behind the debate over imperial policy Torrance shows were deep and bitter divisions that were inextricably linked to domestic tensions within Britain itself The Strange Death of the Liberal Empire provides a clearer understanding of British imperial policy and of a crucial period in South African history

Loo,2019-06-01 Why don't they just move This reductive question is asked whenever reports surface of the all too common lack of social services and economic opportunities in Canada's rural and urban communities But why are certain people and places vulnerable And who is responsible for a remedy From the 1950s to the 1970s the Canadian government relocated people often against their will in order to improve their lives Moved by the State offers a completely new interpretation of this undertaking seeing it as part of a larger project of development and focusing on the bureaucrats and academics who designed implemented and monitored the relocations rather than on those who were uprooted In this finely crafted history Tina Loo explores the contradiction between intention and consequence as diverse communities across Canada were resettled In the process she reveals the optimistic belief underpinning postwar relocations the power of the interventionist state to do good Algebra ,1996 The Accountability Gap in EU law Marios Costa,2016-10-04 Almost two decades ago the fall of the Santer Commission against a background of allegations of maladministration and nepotism had the effect of placing accountability on the political agenda of the EU institutions More recently the non ratification of the Constitutional Treaty the difficulties of the ratification of the Lisbon Treaty and the current financial crisis have increased the calls for accountability in the EU This book investigates whether any progress towards more accountability and transparency has been made in the post Lisbon era by taking a holistic approach to the subject Marios Costa argues that currently the EU institutions and the Member States are not in a position to hold the so called independent agencies as well as the various committees and expert groups accountable Despite recent progress the EU still needs to put forward an acceptable constitutional framework which will truly secure accountability at the EU level of governance U.S. Government Research & Development Reports ,1967 The Statesman's Year-Book 1974-75 J.
