Rumors, Race and Riots Terry Ann Knopf,2017-07-12 Are race related rumors rooted in the personality traits of the individual Are they a kind of improvised news for a community Do they come and go at random or form definite recognizable patterns What role do the news media play in spreading rumors These and other questions are treated in this classic study now available in paperback with a new introduction by the author of how and why rumors emerge in connection with racial disorders Included is an examination and critique of the three major models of rumor formation the psychological approach emphasizing the emotional needs and drives of the individual the functional approach which views rumors as a form of improvised news and the conspiratorial approach which sees rumors as deliberately planted and not spontaneous The author's process model of rumor formation is based on the premise that rumors cannot cause violence and that violence cannot cause rumors Both are viewed as parts of the same process Rumors are seen as just one of a series of determinants each of which increases the likelihood of a collective outburst Among the determinants examined are conditions of stress a rigid social structure supported by a racist ideology and a hostile belief system or negative set of generalized perceptions held separately by different groups Race related rumors are functionally tied to the latter point and crystallize confirm and intensify these beliefs by linking them to actual events Hundreds of pertinent rumors are documented from local newspapers and investigative accounts An exhaustive systematic inquiry is made into the series of disorders that occurred between 1967 and 1970 The role played by rumors during these disturbing times is examined and compared to earlier periods of unrest Implications for public policy are explored along with a hard look at rumor control centers The influence of the police and other public officials as well as the news media are

Les Chater was captured early in 1942 when the Japanese invaded Singapore and Java. His wife and small son escaped on an American troop ship and did not hear any news of Les for the next 18 months. He spent the rest of the war in POW camps in Semplak, Java, and in Mitsushima and Kanose in Japan. His secret daily record in four palm-sized booklets was an ongoing challenge and a small defiance. Every death and its cause is noted in these diaries. Every meal, the activities in the camp, the personalities of guard and officials are described. The Japanese civilians often little better off than the prisoners near the end are portrayed as friendly, cheerful, and respectful people. Although this meticulous detail had no purpose other than as a chronicle, the diaries became after the war an accurate and useful account of the treatment of POWs. Chater also recorded names and vital information of his fellow POWs reproduced here in lists of American, British, and Chinese prisoners held in the camps with him in Semplak, Java, and Mitsushima and Kanose Camps in Japan. These diaries were submitted as evidence in the Tokyo War Crimes Trials in 1947. Page 4 of cover. Javnost, 2005. Fred Lodge's Diaries L/Cpl Frederick Thomas Lodge, 2019-06-06. The wartime diaries of Fred Lodge underscore his perilous passage through World War 2, including the Dieppe Raid and three years as a POW in Germany. Fred was a quiet, kind, considerate, and courageous young Canadian who trained in Canada as an infantry soldier, practiced his military skills in England, waded ashore at Pourville, France, on August 19th, 1942, survived intense German gunfire, saw his buddies killed, maimed, indeed slaughtered. Somehow he survived that awful day at Dieppe and was transported to Stalag VIII-B and later to Stalag IIC in eastern Germany. As a POW, he was often hungry, bored, shamed, shackled, witnessed summary executions, and was forced to participate in a death march in early 1945. Through it all, Fred Lodge was courageous and true to his beliefs, no matter what obstacles, temptations, or mistreatment came his way. He always did his best and the right thing. Fred didn't hate Germans, although he had no respect for inhumane Nazi zealots. With the Russian Army fast approaching, Canadian POWs were evacuated westwards in January 1945 in bone-chilling cold and snow. Over four months, they were marched west with little food, no warm clothing, little shelter, and no reason to think they might survive. However, Fred and most of his fellow POWs did survive, and in late April 1945, they were liberated and returned to England. Somehow, Fred Lodge remained the same quiet, kind, considerate, and courageous man he was at the beginning. This story, as told by Fred Lodge himself, is a gripping tale. He passed through the hell of war and emerged whole. Could you do the same? The Internally Displaced Persons from Chechnya in the Russian Federation Svetlana Alekseevna Gannushkina, 2003.
